PEARKES, NOT BENNETT, SOLE ARBITER OVER BCE RIGHT TO SUE SAYS MANSON

UN Group Out-Votes Reds On Nuclear Tests Issue

UNITED NATIONS (AP)—The United Nations political committee overrode Soviet opposition and voted Wednesday to give urgent consideration to the issue of halting nuclear weapons tests.

Actual debate will begin this morning in the 101-nation committee. The Western powers are expected to assail the Soviet Union for its announced plans to cap its current series of atmospheric nuclear tests with a 50-megaton bomb blast.

INDIAN PLAN LISTED
By a vote of 83 to 10 with four abstentions the committee decided to list as its first item of business an Indian proposal for a new voluntary moratorium on nuclear testing. Only the nine-nation Soviet bloc and Cuba voted against the proposal.

U.S. MOVE APPROVED
Then the committee approved a U.S. move to debate simultaneously the Indian proposal and a U.S.-British resolution on the urgent need for a treaty to end tests under effective international control.

The vote was 54 to 13 with 31 abstentions. The Soviet bloc, Cuba, Mali, India and Senegal voted no. Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Valerian Zorin immediately denounced the committee's decision. He said the debate "cannot have any positive results."

TROW OFF YOKE
Speaking as first secretary of the Soviet Communist party, Khrushchev presented his party "platform" to more than 5,000 delegates at the second day of the 22nd party congress.

He also issued a special invitation to the underdeveloped nations of Latin America, Asia and Africa to "throw off the yoke of colonialism and enter on the road to socialism."

ON DECLINE
Khrushchev told the delegates that "American capitalism has passed its prime and is on the decline."

China Praises Nikita Enemy

TOKYO (UPI)—Shortly after Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev denounced Albania in his Kremlin speech Tuesday, Communist China's Peking radio broadcast a speech that did just the opposite.

Yang Yun-Yu, leader of the Chinese women's delegation to the fifth congress of the Women's Union of Albania, was quoted as praising the "correct leadership of the Albanian Labor (Communist) party headed by its long-tested leader, comrade Enver Hoxha, holding aloft the revolutionary banner of Marxism-Leninism and working in the spirit of holding the pick in one hand and the rifle in the other."

She praised Hoxha's "creative work" and said "we heartily admire your revolutionary heroism... We assure you that we will always be with you, even in storm and stress."

Khrushchev had attacked Hoxha for practicing the Stalinist "cult of personality."

Nations Back Canadian Plan

UNITED NATIONS (CP)—The United States and Britain Wednesday threw their support behind a Canadian-led campaign for a world-wide measurement of atomic radioactivity from nuclear tests and other causes.

Payroll Plan For Shelters

NEW YORK (UPI)—Interest-free loans of $1,000 or less were made available Wednesday to employees of International Business Machines Corp. to build family fallout shelters.

The shelter loans would be repayable over a three-year period through payroll deductions.

Riot Police Halt Algerian Mobs

PARIS (AP)—Thousands of Algerians swarmed into the streets of greater Paris again Wednesday night and clashed with reinforced riot police. Mass deportations of Algerians to North Africa as chronic trouble-makers began today.

An estimated 4,000 Algerians gathered to march here tonight in a demonstration against a savage battle with riot squads near the rail station of suburban Nanterre last week of Paris. Club-swinging police drove

Reds Snub John D

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister Diefenbaker said last night Canada attempted to lodge a protest with the Soviet government over its announced intention to explode a 50-megaton nuclear bomb—but it was rejected.

Mr. Diefenbaker told a reporter the protest was rejected by the Russian embassy here on the ground that the bomb launching, scheduled for the end of this month, was "a domestic matter."

REFUSAL RARE

Wording of the note was not revealed. Outright refusal to accept such a note is not unprecedented.

Earlier, Mr. Diefenbaker said: "No one can deny continued experimentation of these devices will ultimately lead to war and to a war measured in megadeaths."

TWO STEPS
Mr. Diefenbaker told reporters the government has considered two possible steps—a protest to the Soviet Union and sponsorship of a United Nations resolution condemning the proposed Soviet blast.

He said External Affairs Minister Green might "take an immediate initiative at the UN" to have the test condemned.

Immense Fallout Menace to Canada

TORONTO (UPI)—A Toronto newspaper said yesterday Russia's giant 50-megaton H-bomb, along with others tested recently, could shower Canada with more radioactive debris than all other nuclear weapons detonated in the world to date.

The newspaper's science editor, Leonard Berlin, said the "peculiar pattern of higher atmospheric mixing over Canada" apparently gave the Great Lakes area "more than its fair share of any fallout." He said Canada's position on the globe in relation to northern Russia was also a factor in increasing fallout debris over this country.

Berlin said one result could be "the risk of gross injury in the form of leukemia, or bone cancer."

He said results might not show themselves until "15 to 30 years time."

Premier's Ruling Called Insolent

By PETER BRUTON

Lieutenant Governor George Pearkes has sole authority to permit a legal suit over terms of the B.C. Electric seizure and can fire the cabinet if it refuses to accept his ruling, according to retired Supreme Court justice A. M. Manson.

The one-time B.C. attorney-general said it was clearly spelled out in the B.C. statutes that the granting of a fiat to prosecute the government was the prerogative of Lieutenant Governor Pearkes and not the cabinet.

The recently-retired justice said it was "an insolent thing" for Premier Bennett to say the fiat would not be granted.

Government legal officials were studying the new development last night.

Attorney-General Robert Bonner, now out of town, is due back in Victoria today.

B.C. Power Corporation, parent body of the former BCE, sought the fiat to sue the government for $225,000, 000 as compensation for the company instead of the $110, 000,000 arbitrarily set by the government.

Mr. Manson referred to a section of the Crown Procedure Act dealing with applications to sue the government.

'Taken for Granted'

This reads: "The petition shall be left with the provincial secretary in order that the same may be submitted to the lieutenant governor for his consideration and in order that the lieutenant governor, if he thinks fit, may grant his fiat that right be done."

If the statutes had been followed to the letter it should have gone to Lieutenant Governor Pearkes. This was not done.

Officials said yesterday that it was taken for granted that "lieutenant governor" was the same thing as "lieutenant governor-in-council," or, in other words, the provincial cabinet.

But the Interpretation Act clearly differentiates between lieutenant governor and lieutenant governor-in-council.

'Wouldn't Be Right'

Other spokesmen said that since 1847 it has been the policy that the lieutenant governor of a province did not act except on the advice of his cabinet ministers.

Mr. Manson said there were specific reasons why the granting of a fiat was the prerogative of the lieutenant governor and not the cabinet.

"The reasons why that procedure is laid down is that it would not be right that the normal advisors of His Honor—in other words the cabinet—could sit in judgment on a cause in which they are directly involved. Judges do not do that. Judges will always refuse to sit on any case... if they have a personal interest."

"The lieutenant governor, in granting or refusing the application, must do so by the exercise of his own discretion... his personal discretion."

"That discretion is not to be influenced by the views of his cabinet—it's a discretion that must be exercised in a judicial way. It's what we call a judicial discretion. No political influence should weigh. No questions should sway His Honor as to the possible consequences... of the granting of a fiat."

'May Dismiss Minister'

"He may seek the advice of the attorney-general; he is not wise to do so because the statute specifically provides that it must be his own discretion. But he's not bound, in any event, by any opinion expressed by the attorney-general."

"If he decides that the application should be favorably considered, then he instructs that the fiat be prepared for signature. If his minister refuses to prepare it, he may conceivably do it in his own handwriting—or he may feel that he has a reluctant minister on his hands and he may dismiss that minister."

"An insolent thing to do was for the premier to intimate that a fiat won't be granted. It is contempt of the lieutenant governor in his office. It would be bad enough if the attorney-general had said it, but it's infinitely worse when the premier as a layman undertakes to make such a statement."

Young Woman's Chest Pains Probably Not Heart Trouble

By JONAH MOINER, MD
"Dear Dr. Moiner: I am 26 years old. Some time ago I read about a disease known as angina pectoris. I find that all the symptoms I have add up to this. But I've been told repeatedly by doctors that my nerves are causing the pains and discomfort."

"Is it possible that angina pectoris would be overlooked even by a heart specialist? Or can a nervous and tense person such as I am really have pains which copy the exact symptoms of other diseases?"

"Mrs. D.O."

It is possible that you might have angina pectoris, which essentially means pain in the front part of the chest, but I strongly doubt it. I don't mean that you don't have pains but, in my considered opinion, they are not related to the heart.

For one thing, your age is against heart trouble. It's rare at 26, and it's very much rarer at 21, when you first started worrying. Another

Doctors Reject Medical-Care Bill

SASKATOON (CP) — Dr. H. D. Dalgleish of Saskatoon, president of the Saskatchewan College of Physicians and Surgeons, said yesterday that doctors voted "almost to a man" against the medical-care bill now before the Saskatchewan legislature. (See other story Page 21).

Dr. Dalgleish told a news conference that more than 300 doctors attending a closed meeting of the college decided the proposed medical-care scheme was unacceptable to the profession.

Dr. Dalgleish added that the meeting reached no decision on whether to confer with the Saskatchewan cabinet, as proposed by Premier T. C. Douglas.

He said the doctors rejected the bill because they never felt it necessary to cover all the people of the province.

Police Club Rioters

CIUDAD TRUJILLO (AP) — Police attacked demonstrators with clubs last night in one of the worst flare-ups of violence since dictator Rafael Trujillo was assassinated last May.

It was the third straight day of anti-government demonstrations touched off by the closing of Santo Domingo University. Rioting broke out in the country's major cities.

YOUTHS BURN ROCKS
Clashes between rock-hurling youths and police near the heart of this capital climaxed a day of unrest. Police waded into a crowd of shouting youths and beat at least a dozen unconscious.

POLICE DON'T SHOOT
Police drew revolvers as a shower of stones fell around them but they withheld fire. At least four other persons were hurt earlier as students and workers rioted here and elsewhere.

UNIVERSITY CLOSED
The riots started three days ago when angry students at the university demanded the removal of recently appointed rector Jose Manuel Machado on grounds he was too pro-Trujillo.

Ferry Plane Crashes Claiming Seven Lives

TRAVIS AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (UPI) — A small civilian ferry plane crashed and burned near the runway yesterday, killing all seven persons aboard.

Gale Blacks Out CBUT Shows

VANCOUVER (CP) — Forty-three-hour winds Monday blacked out programming on CBUT for about two hours. Several minor power outages were reported on the lower mainland, but wind damage was not extensive. A tree toppled on a CBUT transmitter line.

Families Flee Acid Fumes

CHICAGO (UPI) — Two chemical explosions ripped a cosmetics plant yesterday and touched off a shock wave that injured at least 250 persons and damaged more than 150 buildings.

The blasts shattered the chemical mixing plant at Heineken Curtin Industries, an employee, warned by an automatic alarm that an explosion was close, ran for their lives.

RAIL OF GLASS
The explosions unloosed a hail of splintered glass and flying debris, shattered windows in a 20-block area, rocked a wide area of the city and resounded in suburban Evanston, nine miles away.

Terrified housewives poured into the streets of the north-west side residential and industrial district, some panicky with fears that a bomb had exploded in their midst.

FAMILIES FLEE
Hydrochloric acid fumes spewed from ruptured tanks and spread over the area. Some families fled from their homes to escape the choking fumes. Firemen for a time considered evacuating the district.

$300,000 DAMAGE
The blasts wrecked at least $300,000 damage at the cosmetics plant and a nearby Zenith Corp. factory, where 350 windows were blown out. Some unofficial estimates ran as high as $1,000,000. The evacuation alarm was credited with saving many workers from death or mangle injuries.

NEW YORK (UPI) — A Negro representative of the Mississippi State Sovereignty Commission yesterday told a jeering audience of Columbia University students that the "Freedom Riders" were a "needleless, useless, unwarranted intrusion" on his state. Joseph Albright, 61, said that "Mississippi's segregation laws must be respected by all." He said that most of the people he knows in Mississippi favor segregation. Albright also showed a film to the 250 students called "A Message from Mississippi" dealing with segregation.

During Albright's speech he was repeatedly heckled by members of the audience, including a Negro student who tried to shout him down.

Nikita Triumphs At Party Rally

By HENRY SHAPIRO MOSCOW (UPI) — The 22nd Soviet Communist Party Congress, only in its second day yesterday, already has become a personal triumph for Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev.

AWARE OF STRENGTH
The Soviet party chief seems to be fully aware of his strength. He exudes supreme confidence in the success of his policies.

It is obviously Khrushchev's congress, and will continue to be so for the next two weeks. Between one-quarter and one-third of his immediate associates are scheduled for removal from the apex of Soviet power.

NOT PLEASED
Yesterday Khrushchev drew the line under his brief and bloodless struggle with his political enemies and emerged the unchallenged leader of the Soviet Union.

The Chinese delegates could not have been pleased by Khrushchev's insistence on washing dirty linen in public.

STALIN'S MISDEEDS
Like V. M. Molotov, Chou En-lai might have preferred to hush up Stalin's misdeeds and keep the Soviet quarrel with Albania inside the Communist family.

But Khrushchev told the congress that he believes in frankness and in sharing his problems with the rank and file.

East, West See Things Differently

Stargazers Swap Venom

BOMBAY (CP) — A scolding debate is raging here on the relative merits of Oriental and Occidental methods of peeping into the future.

It all started with the visit to India recently of a Canadian astrologer, Theodore Gormick of Toronto.

Arriving in New Delhi with the idea of understanding Hindu astrological technique, Gormick unwittingly sparked a controversy by doubting the often-claimed superiority of Oriental star-gazing.

He told the columnist of a leading daily newspaper he considered the western system of astrology "far superior."

"Indian astrologers," said Gormick, "often rely on mind-reading and guesswork and frequently mix astrology with such things as palmistry. Western methods are more scientific."

Gormick became the target of attacks, challenges and taunts. One leading astrologer sent word to the Canadian that he was prepared for a competition.

The newspaper columnist got in touch with Gormick and wrote later: "Mr. Gormick hedged. He did not think he could find the time, nor did he feel that a test would prove anything."

An astrologer from Jargraon laughed away the Canadian's claims that he had predicted the Suez crisis and President Kennedy's election and said: "All these things are stale news for us Indian astrologers. We knew about them long before Mr. Gormick and his friends."

Gormick said the astrologer had given a misleading picture. He described him as "childish" and reaffirmed his low opinion of Hindu astrology.

long before Mr. Gormick and his friends."

RUSSIAN INTENT to detonate a 50-megaton bomb in the biggest nuclear explosion yet made has alarmed the Western world. If any consolation may be found in Premier Khrushchev's announcement, it rests in his statement that this will be the last of the current series of Soviet tests.

Not too much reliance can be placed on the Soviet word but there is thus the promise of a spell of freedom from the fallout menace.

Mr. Khrushchev says Russia has a 100-megaton bomb but won't explode it lest it blow in Soviet windows. Obviously he doesn't care about other people's windows.

Nevertheless the layman is bound to wonder if the Kremlin is callous about its own people or if the fallout is not so lethal as experts suggest. These Russian explosions are taking place over Soviet territory, and it is irrational to assume there is no concern in Moscow about the radioactive results within the Soviet sphere.

The West is rightly protesting this scheduled explosion of such a massive nuclear bomb, however, since it adds to the fallout menace no matter the precise degree. Probably satellite states of the Soviet orbit also voice their dismay but these will object privately. Red China, for instance, may be expected to protest since its peoples are within the range of potentially dangerous fallout doses.

It is surprising that India has not protested. African and Asiatic nations are further away from the fallout zone and may not be concerned, but India is comparatively close to the area of testing. And Mr. Nehru's objections might carry more weight than do those from Washington and London.

Political Manoeuvre

AS THE JOINT International Commission took over a quarter of a century to reach agreement on the terms of a treaty for the development of hydro-electric power on the Columbia River, the demand by the B.C. Liberal Party for renegotiation of that treaty does not seem either a constructive or progressive step.

Apart from the fact that it might put back the hands of the clock by 25 years, or more, it is difficult to understand why the B.C. Liberals have at this late date found the treaty to be "disadvantageous to consumers in this country".

For most of the time when the treaty was being negotiated the party in power at Ottawa was the self-same Liberal Party, and although the actual signing of the treaty was by Progressive Conservative Mr. Diefenbaker, the general terms were in line with those which had been advocated by Ottawa Liberals for many years. This is particularly the case so far as the establishment of downstream benefits are concerned.

Even Premier Bennett, who is being given the blame for holding up ratification of the treaty, is not opposed to the treaty as such. All he wants is that Ottawa should give him the right to sell the downstream benefits to the U.S., for cash or for power, as he deems most desirable to the province.

His own lands and forest minister, Mr. Ray Williston, who took part in most of the pre-treaty discussions, indicated as lately as this week, that B.C. was in no way holding up the preliminary work on Columbia hydro development. He cited as evidence of B.C.'s co-operation the fact that the province in the past six months had spent about $2,500,000 preparing plans, water right permits and other pre-construction requirements.

Mr. Williston told members of the Pacific Northwest Trade Association, who met in Victoria this week, that B.C. was ready and willing to go ahead with all phases of the Columbia development as outlined in the treaty.

This is a long way removed from the "start-all-over-again" demand by the B.C. Liberals, which is probably no more than a clumsy political manoeuvre to embarrass both the Conservatives at Ottawa and the Social Crediters in British Columbia.

Sensible Course

ANNOUNCEMENT that the federal government plans to spend $100,000,000 on centennial projects is a welcome assurance that the observance of Canada's 100th birthday in 1967 will be neither niggardly nor unimaginative. It also underlines the fact that, unlike Victoria which still has few if any detailed plans for its own fast-approaching centenary next year, the federal government has taken the sensible course of starting to prepare far in advance of the occasion.

Provincial and municipal governments would be well advised now to emulate Ottawa and start thinking immediately of the projects they might undertake. The senior government is offering to contribute from its $100,000,000 budget one-third of the cost of local community projects of a permanent nature if the communities and provinces concerned will contribute one-third each, with the federal share limited to $1 a person in each province.

Obviously, there will be a host of competitive ideas to be considered before the centenary arrives, and Victoria council's poor example in its own centennial preparations indicates that the provinces and their communities cannot start too soon to set up the machinery for orderly planning in co-operation with Ottawa in this respect.

A Doubt Remains

REFUSAL OF THE provincial government to make public its contribution to welfare costs, says Reeve George Chatterton of Saanich, makes it "obvious that B.C. is paying less and less and the municipalities are paying more and more."

This has been a recurrent theme in Saanich, which seems to have taken the role of chief spokesman for B.C. municipalities in this respect, and which seeing its welfare costs mounting rapidly—by more than one-third in a year, although partly because of a population increase registered in the census—has unsuccessfully pressed the province time and time again to disclose in simple terms its contribution.

The municipalities, assessed on a per-capita basis, are supposed to be paying 10 per cent of the province's total welfare bill. Saanich and other municipalities suspect that their taxpayers are being obliged to pay more than that, and the continued provincial refusal to cite figures so that the actual ratio of provincial-to-municipal contributions can be definitely determined certainly does nothing to detract from the suspicion. If the sharing is as it is supposed to be, why would the province not provide it?

Thinking Aloud

... of shoes, and shoes, and making wax...

By TOM TAYLOR

A LOCAL picture of an army padre about to set off for the Congo recalled to mind a novel of the early twenties, called "Retreat". I think I dealt with the defeat of an army chaplain in his efforts to be of worth to his battalion.

This was in war, when the disparity between religious thought and secular behavior is more sharply posed, but the delicacy of a padre's role is no less precariously balanced in peacetime service with the armed forces.

In the instance of the novel mentioned the padre finally withdrew, blaming himself for his inability to reach the minds, let alone the souls, of the men to whom he tried to minister.

They didn't cotton to him and he didn't understand them; in the result he considered himself a failure.

I daresay other military padres have on occasion felt much the same, when their influence seemed to wither in the remote atmosphere of their environment. Without prejudice to military personnel theirs is a very secular realm.

A padre is thus poised between two stools. If he is too righteous, too much the essence of his calling, he will be of small influence among men he hopes to keep within his bounds. They will deem him stuffy, stay clear of him except on church parades, and be unlikely to seek his guidance on awkward personal problems.

On the other hand if he unbends too much, so that he may be considered as one of the boys, as it were, he will demean himself and his cloth, and, too, probably lose the respect of those he may think he is pleasing. Despite himself he will be the most ribald of servicemen as apt to regard a padre as of another, and better, stature than himself.

The job of an army chaplain, therefore — and of his naval and air force counterparts — cannot be an easy one. The happy mean must be hard to strike.

I suppose this is where personality comes in, where what you might call the muscular Christian has the advantage. And some men of the cloth are muscular chaps, you know, I can think of a top-level English footballer who was of ecclesiastical vintage but who could rattle opposing forwards with unclerical zeal. I feel sure he was all the more admired in the pulpit.

Remember, too, as Biblical history reflects, that to be a theologian does not necessarily imply a man too soft, of staid as a soldier might put it, to be resolute when the need arises. No fewer than five wartime padres have won the Victoria Cross.

A reputation of this sort paves the way for a chaplain; for instance he was a bit of a boxer and able to trounce some extra tough recruit in the ring, some of his delicacy might disappear. He could scarcely thereafter be dismissed as of small account.

It is not a prerequisite of an armed forces chaplain that he should be a proven champion of the muscular arm, of course. He is not there to show off his muscles but to persuade men in uniform to pay some heed to the spiritual values of life.

And having some idea of the military atmosphere, each time I see a padre in army uniform I reflect that he has a most difficult task; to be true to his beliefs and yet to have the tolerance that wins the confidence and friendship of the men whom he is assigned to guide.

Washington Calling

A Distant Shadow Over 1964

By MARQUIS CHILDS

JUST one year from now Democrats and Republicans will be joined in furious battle in a congressional election that can determine the future of the Kennedy administration and cast a long shadow over 1964.

But, more than that, the outcome may give a reading for a longer term on the workability of the American system of divided powers. If the Democrats should lose their majority in the House, and this possibility is not excluded by key party leaders looking realistically at the facts of political life, an administration in power for another two years would be blocked at almost every turn.

Predictions from this distance in the midst of a raging crisis are obviously futile. But it is possible to examine the forces likely to determine the outcome if the election were held this fall. And, short of war, these same forces will almost certainly decide the outcome in 1962.

With only one exception, in 1934 when the New Deal was on the crest of the wave, the party in power in the executive branch has always lost seats in Congress in the off-year election. While President Kennedy won a squeak victory last November the Democrats lost 21 seats in the House. Most of the losers were liberal Democrats and, as a consequence, the coalition of conservative Democrats and Republicans was greatly strengthened. On the basis of past experience the Democrats could expect in '62 to lose another 20 seats, reducing their total to 240 and boosting the Republican total to 155.

This would be a normal loss such as presidents have suffered in the calmest and most contented era. It does not take into account the stresses and strains of a time of troubles.

A principal calculation is with respect to prosperity and jobs. All signs now point to rising productivity and employment. But hard-core unemployment, related to automation, is slow to respond to the increase in overall prosperity. As President Kennedy said at his press conference, there could be a great boom and with it long-term unemployment.

It is an indication of the way the system of divided power works—or fails to work—that the very measures the chief executive recommended in an effort to melt down the hard-core unemployment were blocked in the last session of Congress. The Kennedy administration proposed a bill to spend up to a half-billion dollars over a period of years to retrain and temporarily subsidize workers long out of jobs. This was passed by the Senate and killed in the House rules committee, the not-so-tender trap operated by the Republican-Democratic coalition.

In states with substantial, stubborn, long-term unemployment—Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Michigan—candidate Kennedy made large promises last October and the Democrats were successful in those states. If no marked improvement is evident as '62 rolls around voters could be expected to take reprisals against the Democrats.

One phenomenon has been noted recently—the defection of many of the intellectuals who had been strong for candidate Kennedy. This is brushed aside as unimportant and no more than a reflection of their naive belief that one man could alter the world situation. But insofar as they speak for the citizen groups—independents, liberals or whatever they may be called—so important to the Democratic party, it has political significance. These are the groups that looked for a change under President Kennedy, putting a disproportionate hope on Chester Bowles, Adlai Stevenson and other of their heroes.

While it smolders out of sight, the intense Protestant-Catholic feeling generated by the futile fight over aid to education is another factor. It raises the issue that threatened to cost the president the election. If John McCormack is named Speaker of the House, which means another Catholic in a key position in the national government, this feeling will be accentuated.

The rock-bottom issue is, of course, the question of war or peace. The president and members of his administration are just now acutely sensitive to the charge of "appeasement." Reports from the country are that the public is so little prepared for a settlement of the Berlin crisis by reasonable negotiation with concessions on each side, that anything short of nuclear annihilation will be tagged with the odious label of "appeasement."

On the other hand, if the administration feels compelled to send American troops into Viet Nam to prevent a Communist takeover in Southeast Asia, Republican orators are all prepared to pull the other lever and

Attack on Cuba

By Copley News Service, from Washington

A Long Way Off

FIDEL Castro is one of the few interested persons who think that the United States plans to attack Cuba soon. Everybody else says it will take a year before another serious attempt can be made to topple the Communist-dominated Cuban regime—and then it would have to be a hemisphere action.

The objective observer would be inclined to say that, considering the seeming confusion in U.S. governmental circles, the inability of Cuban exiles to achieve something approaching unity, the hesitancy of the Latin American governments to take vigorous action, and the military strength of the Castro dictatorship, that is an optimistic estimate.

Cuban Foreign Minister Raul Roa and subsecretary Carlos Olivares, the Red who is said to actually run the Cuban foreign ministry in Havana, insist the United States is training new invasion forces.

In Havana, Olivares told diplomats of those countries still maintaining relations with Cuba that the U.S. is grouping and instructing invaders at 30 bases in this country and around the Caribbean.

He mentioned training camps in Texas, Florida, Virginia and North Carolina as well as in Guatemala, Nicaragua, the Dominican Republic, Panama and Puerto Rico.

The U.S. State Department says the allegations were "totally unfounded" and "ridiculous." Roa went before the United Nations General Assembly to charge that "the territory of the United States, the island of Vieques off Puerto Rico, the plantations of Guatemala, the haciendas of Nicaragua, the haciendas of the Dominican Republic and the Canal Zone of Panama were before and are now training camps and dens for the mercenaries."

UN Ambassador Adlai Stevenson said the U.S. is not planning aggression against Cuba. He said any threat against Fidel Castro's regime "comes not from the U.S. but from the Cuban people."

Best available estimates of the situation here in Washington and Miami indicate that Stevenson's statement is true. The U.S. seems to be waiting for Latin American public opinion to turn more sharply against the Communist tyranny in Cuba.

When and if that happens, the Organization of American States collectively—not the United States unilaterally—may move to eliminate Communism from Cuba. Experts on international law familiar with such documents as the 1947 Inter-American brand the Democrats as the war party.

In the 1932 campaign not only lesser figures but General Eisenhower himself repeatedly denounced the futility of the Korean War and in speeches in the Midwest said that Asians should fight Asians and Midwest farm boys should stay on the farm.

In the lonely reaches of the night the president must ask himself whether he has any alternative but to do his duty, however rough, demanding and opprobrious it may seem, and thereby face the likelihood of being a one-term president. There is certainly no easy way out.

Attack on Cuba

By Copley News Service, from Washington

A Long Way Off

FIDEL Castro is one of the few interested persons who think that the United States plans to attack Cuba soon. Everybody else says it will take a year before another serious attempt can be made to topple the Communist-dominated Cuban regime—and then it would have to be a hemisphere action.

This view, expressed by a high-ranking U.S. expert in international law, holds that the Declaration of Caracas in 1954 put the nations of the Americas on record as opposing the spread of Communism.

The 10th Inter-American Conference in the Venezuelan capital declared that domination or control of any American nation by the Communist movement means a threat to the American states, endangers the peace of the Americas and should be ample reason for action.

There is no question that Cuba is under the domination and control of the Soviet Union.

International law itself provides for intervention in cases where fundamental rights are violated. Just as a policeman can violate the sanctity of the home in response to a cry for help, so the pleas of Cubans suffering under the Castro tyranny can justify action against the Communist-dominated regime in Cuba.

But despite existence of the legal basis for intervention, no one seems to expect it until a majority of the Latin American nations agree to move.

In addition to those countries whose relations with Castro's Cuba are strained or broken, the feeling here is that at least Argentina, Brazil and Mexico would have to support intervention before the U.S. will press the issue.

A realistic appraisal of the situations in those countries indicates they all are troubled with fanatic minorities which conceivably might try to overthrow governments that adopted strong anti-Castro positions.

Without hemispheric backing, anti-Castro Cubans say their exile movements abroad and the underground organizations within Cuba cannot hope to wipe out Communism. They just don't have the arms and men to take on Castro's half million-strong militia.

Even if only one out of every 10 militia men and women are willing and able to fight (this is one enthusiastic Cuban exile estimate) that still leaves Castro with 50,000 tough, well-trained, heavily armed troops.

Ottawa Report

Restless Again

By ARTHUR BLAKELEY

FEDERAL civil servants are becoming restless again. This time, it's not a matter of a pay increase, though this is understandably a matter of continuing concern to federal civil servants wherever they may be.

Neither is it a question of securing for the civil service collective bargaining rights comparable with those which organized labor has, though this, too, is a project near and dear to the hearts of many federal civil servants.

Federal civil servants, it would appear, just don't like to be described as "civil servants." That's the long and short of the matter.

Just how many Canadian civil servants have decided that the term is objectionable, it is difficult to ascertain at this stage. It is a matter of record, however, that a disturbing number of them have gone on record as expressing a definite and inexpressible preference for the term "government employees."

This was one result of a recent meeting of the Ottawa-Hull local council of the Civil Service Association of Canada, representing all by itself close to 12,000 civil servants... employees of the Government of Canada.

A resolution was passed which is designed "to have employees of the government of Canada described as such, rather than as civil servants."

The resolution will be passed on to the national headquarters of the Civil Service Association of Canada with an admonition to that headquarters "to use all means possible" to abolish the objectionable term "civil servant." This meant, presumably, all means short of war.

The resolution was moved by a Mr. Charles Surtees, of the Department of External Affairs, and seconded by a Mr. Dan Cocklin, of the Department of National Defence; surely one of the few occasions on record when these two departments saw eye to eye on a major project.

The real complaint about the term "civil servant," it appeared, was that it smacked of servility. And this was a smacking of which the Ottawa-Hull Local Council, at least, wanted no part. Who wants to be known as a servant—anyone's servant? Not a civil servant... government employee (Ottawa-Hull Local Council division), that's sure, Mr. Surtees argued, and apparently persuasively, that to be called a "civil servant" did a government employee no good and could, conceivably make it more difficult for him to maintain high world standards.

Mr. Surtees conceded readily enough that the objectionable term had had popular usage for many, many years and would probably continue in use for a long time, resolution or no resolution. But the time had come, he suggested, when at least a start should be made.

However degrading it may be, the term "civil servant" goes back a long, long way in history. It has been in use in Canada since the pre-Confederation period. And dates back, at the very least, to the time in pre-revolutionary England when the administrative machinery of government was divided into a Civil Establishment and a Military Establishment. The former became known as a civil service, and those employed in it were described as civil servants.

There is not the slightest doubt that the government employee, by whatever term he may choose to be known, occupies a subordinate position to which he may rise within the civil service. Constitutional authorities agree that it is the government that governs and that the civil servant operates, as he must operate, "within the bounds assigned by his superior." The civil servant who aspires to a greater measure of authority than his status permits must seek the civil service and seek election. Until he does, he is the servant of the Crown, the government and the public.

But the Ottawa-Hull Local Council of the CSAC has no real quarrel, apparently, with the fact that the civil servant must serve, even if and when he chooses to call himself a government employee. Otherwise the Ottawa-Hull Local Council would be seeking not a simple change in name but a sweeping constitutional reform of a kind without precedent anywhere at any time.

The government employee, it would seem, has no objection to the fact of serving. But they have accumulated (in the Ottawa-Hull district at any rate) an acute distaste for a name which draws attention to their administrative role and function.

Letter to the Editor

Civil Defence

It is time someone spoke for the ordinary citizens in the matter of fallout shelters and civil defence generally. The citizens are not "apathetic" about survival. They are very worried, and are looking for wise and feasible direction. So far they have either received obsolete and conflicting directions, or none at all. Now they are curiously ordered to "do it yourself"—build outside shelters, or convert basements—if any—at a cost of many hundreds of dollars, and fill them with expensive equipment and food.

Obviously this is quite impossible both physically and financially, for a great many citizens. Moreover, what guarantee have we that the "warning" will come when we are all conveniently at home?

The only answer we can see is: large numbers of community shelters, placed in every district of every city. Federal, provincial and, civic authorities should get together about this without delay. Every citizen should know where to go, day or night, and what to keep handy, to take with him. There should be drill practices, daytime and nighttime, to guard against tragic hitches.

Our contention is that if the elected governments of the free world are so inept as to bring us to the brink of war, they should use the public funds to make an effort at least to protect us; and unless something like this is done, we shall continue to have no faith in civil defence, nor its ability to help us to survive.

St. Laurent Says:

'Japanese Roundup Right'

TORONTO (CP)—Former prime minister Louis St. Laurent Tuesday night defended the 1942 government policy of rounding up Japanese Canadians on the West Coast to send them east.

He said there was reason to fear at the time that the Japanese might try to land on the British Columbia coast and there was fear for loyalty of persons of Japanese descent in B.C.

Survival Experts

REMAIN LOYAL

"Many of the Japanese-Canadians would remain loyal to Canada as long as there would be a Canada," Mr. St. Laurent said.

He said "mistakes" were made in handling their possessions. "But," he said, "they couldn't take their landed possessions with them when they moved." Adequate compensation was given, he said.

GOULEZKO CASE

Mr. St. Laurent also told how he vetoed a proposal by RCMP to pick up the suspects in the Igor Gouzenko 1945 spy case in a simultaneous night raid. Mr. St. Laurent was justice minister at the time.

"I objected to that," Mr. St. Laurent said, saying it smacked of cloak-and-dagger. He said he agreed all the suspects should be picked up at once "but to go in the daylight."

Mr. St. Laurent was interviewed at his country home in St. Patrice, Que.

Drug Industry Claim:

Big Risk for Profits

Cancel Tax Buyers Ask

TORONTO (CP)—Removal of the 11-per-cent federal sales tax from drugs prescribed for treatment of illness was urged Tuesday before the restrictive trade practices commission.

This was one of four recommendations contained in a brief presented by the Ontario branch of the Canadian Association of Consumers.

The brief also said: Since monopolistic control of the drug industry is not desirable, the compulsory licensing provision should be widened.

The staff of the federal food and drug directorate set up to inspect drugs before they are released for use in Canada should be increased to ensure a continued high standard of quality control for drugs.

TORONTO (CP)—Drug manufacturing is a high-risk industry in which products developed after expensive research may quickly become obsolete, the federal government's restrictive trade practices commission was told Wednesday.

This was one of the arguments marshalled by the Canadian Pharmaceutical Manufacturers Association, which sought to show profits of drug-making firms are not excessive and prices paid by the consumer are reasonable.

The association delivered its points in an 80-page brief read by Stanley Gonder, its general manager. The commission also heard analysis and inspection of a suggestion by the Canadian Hospital Association that Ottawa should expand testing.

Symbolic Cross Erected

Lieutenant-Governor George Pearkes will unveil a Cross of Sacrifice in Veterans Cemetery in Esquimalt at 2:30 p.m. Oct. 27.

The symbolic granite cross made by a Vancouver monument firm is identical to one in Ross Bay Cemetery and others throughout the Commonwealth erected by the Commonwealth War Graves Commission in tribute to Commonwealth servicemen of all wars.

Veterans Cemetery, near the grounds of the Gorge Vale Golf Club off Colville Road, is more than 100 years old and contains the remains of more than 800 servicemen.

Stop Jaywalking Campaign Starts

Pedestrians, beware! The dangers of what they are doing. Deputy City Police Chief Harry Mercer has instructed his men to clamp down on jaywalkers in the downtown area. "Jaywalking was made illegal for the protection of the offenders themselves," Deputy Chief Mercer said. "Crosswalks and traffic lights are provided at most main corners for their protection. That is where they should cross."

Army 'Brain' Goes Haywire

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Army officials admitted yesterday that one of their electronic brains went haywire and ordered $7,400,000 worth of unneeded equipment sent to U.S. forces in Europe.

The orders were cancelled when the army discovered the mistake. But a few thousand dollars' worth of equipment already had started to arrive overseas or was on the way.

The General Accounting Office (GAO), Congress' watchdog over government spending, disclosed the slip-up in a report to President Kennedy and the Senate and House. Congressional committees will look into the episode.

The army blamed the error on faulty rewiring of an electrical accounting machine control panel at its ordnance supply office in Orleans, France.

GAO auditors said that if the army had checked its figures, the mistake would have been caught much more quickly. A number of figures were transposed and some included an extra digit.

The GAO also said that other errors by army ordnance supply officers in Europe resulted in the shipment of $2,000,000 worth of unneeded equipment.

ATLANTA (UPI)—An Atlanta woman being sued for more than $1,000,000 denied she gave her 16-month-old granddaughter "Bloody Mary" cocktails to keep her quiet.

Mrs. Oran Dodd testified in her own behalf in the second day of a trial in which her former son-in-law charges she gave the vodka and tomato juice cocktails to his daughter.

The son-in-law, Robert Lee Slater, is seeking $1,011,000 damages. He charges Mrs. Dodd damaged his "peace and happiness" by giving his

Deadlock Continues On UN Job

UNITED NATIONS (AP)—Soviet and U.S. chief delegates reported continued deadlock Thursday night after conferring for an hour and a quarter about the selection of a temporary UN secretary-general.

Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Valerian Zorin told reporters "we studied both our positions and did not agree on anything as yet."

U.S. Ambassador Adlai Stevenson said there was no agreement or, as he put it, "no runs, no hits and I can't say about the errors."

Motel Attractions Include 'Survival'

CHICAGO (UPI)—O'Hare Inn, a motel near Chicago's International Airport, has announced plans to construct a fallout shelter big enough for all its guests because it will be "reassuring to travellers."

'Demands Ruin Family Life'

GREENSBORO, N.C. (UPI)—A family life counsellor said "excessive demands (and) incompatible expectations" are forcing young people to reject family life.

"The Church tells them one thing, the school another and the social strata another," Dr. Olin Binkley of Wake Forest told a bi-racial conference.

"In most young people, this results in compulsive alienation, a total rejection of the family group. It also results in compulsive conformity or the attempt to do everything the parents want to the letter of the law."

Poll Favors Verwoerd

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (UPI)—The ruling Nationalist party took an early lead today in returns from yesterday's parliamentary elections.

First results showed 64 seats for the Nationalists, 40 for the opposition United party, and one each for the National Union group and the Progressives. There are 156 seats in the Parliament.

The voting turnout was the lightest in the past four general elections, with early indications showing an average of 60 per cent of the eligible voters in most districts.

To improve family life, Dr. Binkley suggested development of a capacity for "systematic and thorough work," sincere religious faith, a quest for "inter-personal competence," and the opening of channels of communication within the family, especially correcting the lack of sex education.

Dexter's Trial During Cricket Tour Could Give England Brighter Play

LONDON (Special) — Flamboyant Ted Dexter, one of England's few batting stars in the summer test series against Australia, has set out on the most important mission of his colorful cricket career.

Dexter is heading a 17-man MCC party on a four-month winter tour of India, Pakistan and Ceylon and it's no secret that if he succeeds in leadership where others have failed the England captaincy will fall on his broad shoulders.

Dexter vowed before leaving England for the hard-baked wickets of Asia that his chief aim would be to play lively cricket.

KEEP IT LIVELY
"I shall insist on attack to achieve results," he declared as others have recently done before him. "I'm determined to aim at positive cricket and won't be put off by the fear of being beaten."

Dexter will need all his talents in leadership, diplomacy and determination to make the tour a success and clinch his chances of succeeding Peter May as the England captain for next year's tour of Australia.

UNDER FIRE
May came under heavy fire for his alleged lack of imagination in guiding England against the Aussies here this summer. Dexter, known as "Lord Edward" in his role as captain of Sussex, may find his spirited airport declaration easier said than done.

Dexter will guide the youthful MCC team through 24 matches, including eight test matches, on difficult pitches that are expected to tax England's this bowling lineup. Missing from the side are such top-calibre players as May, Colin Cowdrey, Fred Trueman and Brian Statham.

who all "excused" themselves competitions in all types of weather.

One British golfer who will agree is Ryder Cup newcomer Neil Cole, one of the more promising golfers among a thin crop of rising British stars.

Cole scored a brilliant five-stroke victory over a strong field to capture the American Ballantine tournament at Wentworth and earnings of almost $4,000—biggest first prize ever offered in a British professional meet.

BRIGHT ROUND
It was the final test for Britain's Ryder Cup team and a brilliant final day for Cole, who shot a last-round 65 that included only 26 putts.

Two of the competitors, however, met with less fortune than Cole. Scotland's outpoken Eric Brown staged a 90-minute strike because of "impossible" conditions on the 37th green and delayed the resumption of second-round play for half an hour.

He discovered he had played one round with 15 clubs in his bag—one over the maximum—and he was penalized two strokes for every hole. That decision turned a creditable round of 79 into 115.

Tag Rematch On Mat Card
Ivan and Karol Kalimoff will defend their Pacific northwest tag team championship against Roy McClarty and Doug Lindsay tonight at Memorial Arena for the second time in a week.

In the last meeting, McClarty and Lindsay won the match on a foul, but could not win the title on a win by this method.

Danne McDonald meets Wild Bill Wright; John Foll faces Bob Morse; and Ivan Kalimoff takes on McClarty in preliminary bouts.

First bout starts at 8.30.

Kramer Gets Aussie Okay
MELBOURNE, Australia (AP) — The Lawn Tennis Association of Australia has lifted its ban on professional promoter Jack Kramer.

The association voted 8-4 in favor of allowing Kramer's troupe to use courts controlled by amateur bodies. The ban was first imposed in 1958, lifted in 1959 and reimposed in October last year.

BRITAIN'S biggest football winners seldom seem to have a clue about football.

A Londoner who had just hit the pools jackpot for more than $100,000 wanted to buy a house with some of his winnings.

When a real estate agent showed him a bungalow "just vacated by Jimmy Greaves," the pool winner blantly asked: "Who's he?"

The day of the small ball on Britain's golf courses appears to be numbered.

The Royal and Ancient is expected to introduce the larger-sized American ball to British golf in 1962, settling once and for all a controversy that has long raged over the merits of the two balls.

Most observers now seem to agree that the American ball is the best for all types of weather.

Lions' 'Offside' Play Disproved by Movie

VANCOUVER — B.C. Lions, who played Winnipeg Blue Bombers twice in a space of eight days, were apparently robbed not just once, but twice.

Official game films show the Lions were not offside as charged in a last-minute play in the game they lost, 16-15, to the Bombers Monday in Vancouver.

The play wiped out a 26-yard gain which would have left them on the Winnipeg 30-yard line with time left to try for a field goal that would have won the game if successful and almost certainly would have given them one point even if the field goal attempt failed.

The films show that flanker Dick Johnson, the Lion called for offside, did not actually cross the scrimmage line until after the ball was snapped.

The Lions had an earlier protest on a 21-20 loss to the Bombers in Winnipeg discarded yesterday, and don't plan any protest on Monday's call since it was merely an error in judgment rather than in rule interpretation.

BASEBALL MEETING
General meeting of the American Little League will be held tonight at 8 p.m. at Jaycee Little League Park.

Another to come to grief was Woburn Sands professional Bill Evans, who established a British tournament golf record by being penalized 36 strokes.

He discovered he had played one round with 15 clubs in his bag—one over the maximum—and he was penalized two strokes for every hole. That decision turned a creditable round of 79 into 115.

"I've screamed my last of the game. The films showed other offside during the game by both teams but they weren't called."

Canadian football commissioner G. Sydney Haller yesterday overruled Lions protest about the outcome of the Oct. 7 game in Winnipeg. The protest was based on a fourth-quarter field goal by Lions that was first called good, then declared not good.

Lions may have something to complain about, but Edmonton Eskimos should really be screaming.

Had Lions won those two games the Eskimos, and not Winnipeg, would be in first place in the Western Conference.

Player leads the top 10 with $64,540 for 28 tournaments.

Second in last year's record-breaking money winner, Arnold Palmer, Palmer has banked $57,732 for 22 times out on the tournament trail. He won more than $80,000 last season.

Deug Sanders, California pro, has earned $38,513 in 38 tournaments for third place.

Green Looks at Aid

Jagan, Ottawa Getting Along

OTTAWA (CP)—The Canadian government is studying the question of economic aid to British Guiana, External Affairs Minister Green said Wednesday.

Y's Choice

John Duncan, of Victoria, was elected governor at a recent annual convention of the Pacific Northwest region of Y.M.C.A. Men's Clubs held at Yakima, Wash.

He spoke after a 1½-hour meeting with British Guiana's Premier Cheddi Jagan, who arrived earlier in the day for talks with Canadian officials.

Mr. Green said he and the premier had a "very good talk" about Guiana's economic problems and the different ways in which Canada might help solve them.

At present there was no machinery through which Canada could extend such aid, except possibly through the international development association.

Accordingly, Mr. Green suggested a Colombo-type plan for the Caribbean might be the answer. Earlier, Mr. Jagan had pleaded for Canadian help in the achievement of "our national aspirations" — economic and political freedom for his country.

He implied, in an address to the Canadian Club of Ottawa, that economic independence is just as important to the Guianese as political autonomy.

Mr. Jagan said British Guiana does not want charity or handouts. But it badly needs loans on "fair and easy terms" with no strings attached.

'One of Silliest Actions'

Splitting Canada Puts Forsey Out of New Democratic Party

MONTREAL (CP)—Eugene Forsey, research director for the Canadian Labor Congress, said Wednesday he has refused membership in the New Democratic Party because it deleted the word "national" from its constitution.

He described the action at the founding convention in Ottawa last August as one of the silliest he had ever heard of.

Mr. Forsey said the decision "simply made me ineligible for membership" in the NDP.

"In effect the convention accepted the convention that there is no Canadian nation, but only a French-Canadian nation and an English-Canadian nation in a bi-national state."

He said he had no other fight with the party and he did not resign for the simple reason he had refused to accept the constitution without "national" and so never had been a party member.

He did not announce his stand at the convention because he did not want to make a "spur-of-the-moment" decision on a matter that was an affront to common sense.

Our Sonar Impresses U.K.

OTTAWA (CP) — The British Navy hopes to make continued use of the latest Canadian anti-submarine detection devices at the same time as it embarks on its new nuclear-powered submarine program.

Lord Carrington, Britain's first lord of the admiralty, said yesterday the Royal Navy intends to test variable depth sonars ordered from Canada, and if the idea proves good it will be continued.

He also said the advantages of nuclear-powered submarines are becoming increasingly evident, but even these vessels which rarely have to surface are detectable.

Lord Carrington spoke at a press conference shortly after a meeting with Prime Minister Diefenbaker. During a three-day visit to Ottawa, he has conferred with Defence Minister Harkness and the navy board.

Lord Carrington said he hoped sales of naval equipment would be a two-day business and would avoid duplication of development work.

He predicted emphasis will be placed by Britain on developing nuclear-powered submarines, assault vessels and commando ships but the large aircraft carrier would continue to have considerable importance.

Britain's first nuclear submarine, the Dreadnaught, was to be commissioned next year.

A second one, the Valiant, was about to be built. He said Britain at present had no plans to equip them with Polaris missiles.

Government policy was to rely on the Royal Air Force's fast V-bombers until about the mid 1960s, when Britain might switch to Skybolt, the American air-launched ballistic missile.

He estimated the Russian submarine fleet numbered between 350 and 400.

Mystery Bird Not 'Whooper'

NORTH VANCOUVER (CP) — A mystery bird, picked up exhausted in the garden of a North Vancouver home, was resting Wednesday night at the society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals shelter here.

It has officials scratching their head as to just what it is.

It was at first suggested that the small-bodied bird — it weighs less than two pounds — with long legs, was a rare whooping crane. But a check with experts seemed to discount this. SPCA Inspector Joe Cookson described the bird as "kind of grey, with yellow eyes and a long yellow beak and tufts on top of its head."

Britain Catches Up On Europe Thinking

LONDON (UPI) — Britain yesterday sent foreign office deputy undersecretary Sir Evelyn Shuckburgh on a round of exploratory discussions on Berlin with German and French officials in Bonn and Paris.

Shuckburgh scheduled talks in Bonn today with German foreign office state secretary Dr. Karl Carstens. Friday he is to confer in Paris with Jean Lalyot of the Quai d'Orsay. The foreign office said Shuckburgh's trip was designed "to allow him to familiarize himself with present thinking in Bonn and Paris."

His planned trip to Washington later this week has been cancelled. He is to return to London Friday when Britain's ambassador Sir Frank Roberts is expected from Moscow for a round of consultations on Berlin and possible East-West negotiations.

Shuckburgh also was expected to meet with NATO secretary general Dirk Stikker in Paris Friday. These moves were intended to keep Allied consultations on Berlin going in the absence thus far of agreed full-dress Western four-power talks. A conference scheduled in London this week was cancelled at France's request.

U.S. Can Top Huge Red Bomb

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Dr. Ralph Lapp, a United States nuclear scientist, said Wednesday each U.S. B-52 strategic bomber packs a nuclear warhead greater than Russia's proposed 50-megaton nuclear bomb.

"These B-52 bombers would be airborne over Canada in times of an alert," said Dr. Lapp, a United States nuclear scientist, said Wednesday each U.S. B-52 strategic bomber packs a nuclear warhead greater than Russia's proposed 50-megaton nuclear bomb.

times of an alert," said Dr. Lapp, a United States nuclear scientist, said Wednesday each U.S. B-52 strategic bomber packs a nuclear warhead greater than Russia's proposed 50-megaton nuclear bomb.

these warheads on long-range flights to Russia. The two 24-megaton bombs would do more damage than one 50-megaton weapon because in these massive weapons of annihilation some of the extra energy from each explosion is dissipated, said Dr. Lapp.

By splitting the load into two weapons, the attacking plane could have greater flexibility. It could drop one 24-megaton bomb at one centre and carry the other 24-megaton weapon elsewhere. Each of these hydrogen bombs would be big enough to knock out a city the size of Toronto or Montreal and its satellite communities.

Rescuer of 50 Dies in Ontario

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP)—James Grubb, 57, of Point Pelee National Park, who saved more than 50 persons from drowning during his lifetime, died here. The former commercial fisherman and sportsman was involved in many heroic feats during wrecks on Lake Erie dating back to before the turn of the century.

Former City Woman Denies Old Charge

Down Adams, now of Vancouver, pleaded not guilty in city court yesterday to a two-year-old charge of keeping a common bawdy house in the Fairfield district of Victoria. She was remanded to Oct. 25 for trial.

The woman was arrested on the charge in September, 1959, and trial date was set then for Oct. 7 of that year. She was released on bail, and failed to appear on trial date.

Man Admits Guilt

Cruiser Theft Before Court

A Victoria man, Bernd Sauer, pleaded guilty in city police court yesterday to stealing a 46-foot cruiser last Sept. 16, the boat later becoming a total wreck on the west coast of Washington state.

Sauer was remanded to Oct. 26 for a probation report and sentence.

Det. Raymond Melthoff told the court that Sauer and another man went to McKay-Cornack Ltd. shipyards, 130 Kingston, on Sept. 16 and took the cruiser "Blue Chip," owned by H. Rolfe Robinson, 3240 Wickham.

The $10,000 vessel was found Sept. 17 beached at Point Grenville, near Aberdeen. Sauer and a companion were arrested by the local county sheriff and Coast Guard as they returned to the Blue Chip with gasoline.

The boat, court was told, subsequently became a total loss on the beach, and was destroyed on orders of her owner to keep from becoming a menace to navigation. Formerly a Canadian naval auxiliary craft, she had been insured against fire loss only.

Second man arrested, police said, is still being held by U.S. immigration officials.

Winter Works Aim

Job Level Steady

Based on their planning on past success, members of Greater Victoria's winter employment campaign committee are preparing to keep the area's job level as steady as possible in the coming months.

With two meetings already held, the committee is encouraged by a lead provided by Greater Victoria municipalities.

Already announced are winter work projects totalling $1,400,000. These will either call for employment of extra men, or keep on the job men who might otherwise have been laid off.

This area's climate eliminates many of the problems common in Eastern Canada, but the committee stresses the importance of maintaining an employment level which will at least be steady.

reduce seasonal hardships for individuals and harmful economic effects.

Last year's successful campaign, a committee spokesman said yesterday, brought reports from many firms that business was better than would have been the case without the drive.

Chairman of the committee this year is E. E. Chamberlain of Victoria Lions Club, who succeeds D. J. Wright.

Working with him are J. L. F. Mears of Victoria Real Estate Board, heading the advertising committee; S. T.

Boat Crackdown Due

Criminal Code amendments putting teeth into small boat regulations have brought comparatively few convictions in the Greater Victoria area this year.

However, there have been some charges for nautical infractions and authorities warn that with the opening of the season next year the new regulations will be enforced rigidly and on a wider scale than has been possible up to now.

THREE CONVICTIONS

Saanich police, keeping an eye on Elk, Beaver and Prospect Lakes and on the Gorge waters, have had three convictions since Sept. 1.

RCMP, responsible for coastal and most other inland waters of the province, have had a "few."

Saanich officers use power boats for lake patrols.

FLEET PLANNED

RCMP spokesmen say they plan to use a fleet of similar craft, as mobile as the thousands of privately-owned boats now in the province, to be ready for operation next spring.

With these they hope to bring in any who violate the new regulations many of which bear a strong resemblance to highway traffic regulations.

THOSE LIABLE

Liable to conviction are any who:

- Operate their boats dangerously;
- Operate a boat while impaired by alcohol or a drug;
- Fail to remain at the scene of an accident;
- Operate a boat engaged in towing water skiers without having a second responsible person aboard keeping watch over the person towed;

Operate a boat engaged in towing from one hour after sunset to sunrise.

Persons convicted of these offences may be fined or otherwise punished and may also be disqualified from operating small boats.

Scurrah Wishes Saanich Success In Vancouver Island Hub Scheme

Saanich council's plan to become the main distribution point for Vancouver Island by establishment of a warehouse area near Royal Oak was praised by Mayor Percy Scurrah yesterday.

"I think it's an excellent idea and I wish them success," he said. "We aren't in a position to do it. If they can bring business to this area or keep business in this area I am all for it. If it helps Saanich it will help us too."

Non-Committal on Schools

Victoria Fails to Join Solid Front on Bylaw

Referendum Defeat 'Will Bring Chaos'

By IAN STREET

Representatives of the four Greater Victoria municipalities yesterday were asked to present a "united front" in support of $3,755,000 referendum to be voted on Oct. 28 in School District 61.

Speakers from Saanich, Esquimalt and Oak Bay pledged their individual support of the proposed three-year school building program. Members of the Victoria delegation, however, were non-committal, though none of the city representatives spoke out.

at the meeting in support of city manager C. C. Wyatt's complaint of "unfair" distribution of costs.

School superintendent John Gough made a plea for united action and said failure of the referendum would result in a "chaotic situation."

Part-Time Education

"The educational welfare of what is expected to be 27,000 youngsters in our schools three years from now is at stake. If this referendum is not passed for any reason it means we will be forced to resort to part-time education."

He added: "I would point out that the introduction of shift classes in our schools would not only be effective in outside areas, but in Victoria as well."

Taxpayer-parents in Victoria would inevitably say the school board failed to meet the needs of the expanding education system, said Mr. Gough.

"We can't have a failure on this referendum," said Coun. Allan Cox of Oak Bay. He said if, as the city claims, the present basis of cost sharing is wrong, then it must be corrected by individual political action at the provincial level.

Coun. Stanley Murphy of Saanich warned there was a real danger of the referendum going down to defeat at the polls.

'Not Fair Suggestion

This could happen unless the attitude of Victoria could be reconciled so all the municipalities would present a united front.

It would be unfair to suggest Victoria taxpayers are to be penalized, said Mr. Murphy. He pointed out many city businessmen and their employees live in Saanich and need schools for the children there. Mr. Wyatt earlier told the meeting Victoria would receive "direct benefits" totalling $317,000 from the referendum.

while city taxpayers were forced to contribute $913,000. The city manager said that, in effect, Victoria is contributing nearly $800,000 towards school facilities in other parts of the district and added the inequality has been growing since 1950.

Mr. Wyatt said he implied no criticism of the school board or the other municipalities. "I'm trying to say the whole method is wrong," Board chairman W. E. Gelling urged a different view.

Desperately Needed

He said the referendum was the only means of obtaining 101 desperately needed classrooms to meet the mushrooming school population of Greater Victoria as a whole rather than in individual municipalities.

"Then it is apparent all the citizens of Greater Victoria are being fairly treated," the chairman said.

Trustee Kenneth Leeming, the board's chairman of finance, disclosed the original estimates for the three-year building program have been more than $4,000,000 and were cut "by a considerable amount" at the insistence of the department of education.

Trustee Richard Reeva, chairman of buildings and grounds, said the "only positive approach" to the problem of cost sharing was to review all building programs since 1948.

Mop-Up Leader Named for Drive

New "mop-up" division of the United Appeal will be headed by Fred McGregor, it was announced yesterday.

Duties of members of the division will be to call on all firms and individuals that have been missed by regular canvassers. The group will begin work Oct. 23.

Pall of Smoke Belies Clean Bill for Industry

Pall of smoke covering Victoria yesterday contradicted city hall report there has been "a considerable reduction in emission of heavy smoke from mills and laundries in the city area" over past month. Ald. Geoffrey Edgewood, chairman of city smoke abatement committee, said last night he has had no complaints about smoke for a month.

Smoke poured from this sawdust burner yesterday when the Colonist checked throughout the city to see if there has been reduction in smoke nuisance as reported to city public works committee Tuesday by smoke inspector Thomas Walker. City will spend $800 on special equipment to check on pollution of air by smoke. —(Colonist photos.)

Unionist Declares:

City Council Not Elected As Employment Agency

Members of city council who failed to vote in favor of dropping questions of religion from city employment questionnaires were rapped sharply by Victoria Labor Council delegates last night.

"This council was elected by all the people—not just by a special group," commented

Fred Bevis, electrical workers delegate. "They have abdicated to themselves the right to decide the terms of employment. They were not intended to function as an employment agency when they were elected."

He said the city manager should be given the right to decide "on proof of qualifications and ability" who should be hired for the city staff.

SOUNDING BRASS

"Particularly shocking," said delegate Perry Raymond, were the comments of "the minister of the gospel (Rev. J. L. W. McLean) who seemed to have forgotten the Biblical quotation: 'Though I speak with the tongues of angels, if I have not charity, I am but a sounding brass or a tinkling cymbal.'"

"To my mind, his lack of charity is shocking."

KEEP CLOSE EYE

Adopted unanimously by delegates was a recommendation by the executive that the council keep a "close eye" on proceedings against the city launched by the department of labor.

The action followed a complaint to the department that the city, by including questions of job applicants' religion, had committed an offence under the Fair Employment Practices Act.

CHARGING ITSELF

"It is clearly a job for the provincial government to see that its laws are carried out," said delegate Bevis. "Here we have a group that is singularly unproductive in results in other matters, charging itself with the job of getting satisfactory and competent employees."

Council's refusal to drop the question on religion "is the action of demagogues," said Victor Midgely, delegate for Local 1508, Carpenters' Union.

SAME ON CENSUS

"I resent any infringement of my civil rights—it was the same on the census. I object being asked questions on my religion and politics. I am amazed that a minister of the gospel would take the attitude of flouting the laws of the land in retaining this discriminatory questionnaire."

Public Works

Rush Hour Parking Up for Revision

City public works committee where parking is banned between 4 p.m. and 5:30 p.m.

The decision was made after Mr. Garnett told the committee he felt it would be wrong to remove the "no parking" restrictions.

"In almost every case there is a valid argument to keep the ban," he said.

Ald. Edgewood told the committee he is "continually being nailed on the matter" by city merchants.

He said traffic patterns have changed since the signs were first installed.

Dirty-Linen Flap Hits Our Man in California

Peter Bruton's NOTEBOOK

RIGHT NAME, WRONG

PLACE: A traveller just returned from the wilds of San Francisco reports he called in on Newt Steacy, our distinguished civil servant, and found things in a fine old flap.

Seems Mr. Steacy was none too happy about receiving a lot of his mail addressed to "B.C. House."

Our provincial establishment there, he said, should be called "British Columbia House."

On the surface this seems a pious matter.

But apparently there is a Chinese laundry in San Francisco with a name similar to B.C. House and a lot of Mr. Steacy's mail is ending up there with the dirty linen.

Incidentally, B.C. House is sorting more than expected.

Originally it was estimated $25,000 would cover all the costs of operation for the present fiscal year. But yesterday cabinet okayed an additional $30,000 for the office to pay for "renovations."

B.C. House was only opened in August.

LA TRIVIATA: Back from the International Jaycee convention in Puerto Rico is Eric Charman who, despite all the stories, did not catch a 190-pound sailfish, mainly because he didn't go fishing. Eric had side trips to Jamaica and the Virgin Islands before returning. . . A reader has taken pen in hand to say he can't understand how anyone could read such drivel as this column. He goes on to mention six separate items, which at least prove he is one who reads it! . . . Stolen humor: A Winnipeg colleague says that during the time of the World Series an excited three-year-old rushed out to her mother and said, "Mummy, come see, Yogi Berra is on television."

BARGAIN BASEMENT: A

spy reports that less than three weeks after a piece appeared in the paper saying it was illegal to burn leaves in curb gutters she saw an off-duty policeman doing just that! . . . About a year ago, a young gal had a close shave with death when she was thrown from a horse that shied. Recently the same horse was "borrowed" by a couple of eight-year-olds who never realized the trouble they were inviting. But the horse was gentle and caused no trouble at all. . . Incidental intelligence: Next year's centennial celebrations in Victoria, points out Archie Willis, are in commemoration of the founding of civic government in the city, not the city itself. Victoria had its centenary soon after the Second World War.

SAFETY FIRST: A city man was journeying to the mysterious East aboard one of those new jets and remarked to his colleague in the next seat there certainly was not too much room in the economy fare seats. At Winnipeg a passenger of rather sizable proportions boarded the aircraft and, after considerable effort, managed to jam his frame into the seat. But the seat belt just wouldn't go around. "I see you're having some difficulty," said the Victorian. "Funny, I was mentioning how small the seats were to my friend here before we reached Winnipeg." "I can't get this safety belt around," grunted the newcomer. "No I noticed that," said the city man. Then, as a joke, he added: "Perhaps you could hoist yourself up a bit and fasten it around your thigh, sir." And do you know, that's exactly what the man did.

INSTANT ITEM: The best way to get ahead is to have one.

Uncertain Future

Will Hydro Run City Bus Lines?

By TED SHACKLEFORD

Future of the Greater Victoria transit system is clouded with uncertainty.

The bus system is at present operated by the B.C. Electric but the B.C. Power Commission is slated to take over BCE operations in Victoria Jan. 1, 1962.

The commission was created under the provincial Power Act and has no specific authority to operate a bus service.

Dr. Gordon Shrum, chairman of the Crown corporation which took over the B.C. Electric, said last night he assumed the power commission would run the Greater Victoria bus service after Jan. 1.

Dr. Hugh Keenleyside, chairman of the commission, asked if the commission would continue the transit system after the end of this year, said: "I don't think I can give you any decision on that as yet."

However, he assumed the provincial government intended the commission to assume all the B.C. Electric services in this area.

Spokesmen for all Greater Victoria municipalities have said definitely in the past they do not want to run the transit service.

When the B.C. Electric was seeking reductions in the transit system earlier this year, before the provincial government took control of the company, officials claimed the bus service was losing $500,000 a year.

$2,000 to United Appeal Start for Varsity Crews

Some 225 Victoria University students last night rang up $2,000 in United Appeal donations in their first night of canvassing the Saanich and Oak Bay residential districts. The drive was organized by Floyd Fairclough, chairman of the residential division of the United Appeal.

Other campaign leaders were Dale Irvine, women's undergraduate president, and Bruce Warburton, men's undergraduate president. Teams were arranged under 38 team captains.

Mrs. Pearkes To Open School Fair

Mrs. George R. Pearkes, wife of the lieutenant governor, once a pupil at St. Margaret's herself, will open the school's ninth annual Fun Fair to be held at the school Saturday, Oct. 24.

The affair, which will be opened at 2 p.m., is organized by the parents' auxiliary.

The theme, "Under the Sea," will form the basis for decorations which are being made by the boarders, assisted by the day girls. The 15 stalls range from home cooking and candies to gifts, and a fathers' stall.

In addition there will be a fashion show and afternoon tea, a hobby show, and for children, pony rides and a variety of games.

The Fun Fair is the only fund-raising affair of the year and provides for two bursaries for the junior and senior school, as well as extra games equipment and additional books for the library.

Mrs. Roderick Clack and Mrs. Norman Lockyer are conveners.

The theme "Under the Sea" forms the decorative motif for the ninth annual Fun Fair of St. Margaret's School, and seen here before a sea-green fish net are five of Father Neptune's fair handmaidens, all working on decorations. Centre, is Cheryl-Ann Watson, and the others, left to right, are Lois Smith, Wendy Matson, Leanne Kramer and Lynnette Clack.

Hundreds Attend Fair At St. Louis' College

Hundreds of parents, children, aunts and uncles yesterday poured into St. Louis' College for the annual Fall Fair which began at 3 p.m. and did not finish until 10 p.m.

There was a lot going on. There was an enormous variety of things to buy, and there were many things to do.

There was a children's zoo, a country store, home cooking stalls, candy and delicatessen stalls. Aprons were for sale. There was a white elephant stall, hot dogs and drinks, needlework, fish pond, used toys and candy.

There was also a bustling tea room filled with customers, and upstairs in a classroom there were balloon and dart games, and other games of chance such as Crown and Anchor.

Guests at the affair were received by the co-conveners Mrs. J. Szpradowski and Mrs. J. McGowan.

Running the various stalls and booths were Mrs. L. Mc

Donald, Mrs. K. Reed, Mrs. A. Scurrah, Mrs. J. Speed, Mrs. M. Griffin, Mrs. A. Laberge, Mrs. D. Baines, Mrs. F. Christian, Mrs. E. Brown, Mrs. C. Comerford, Mrs. J. Kojder, Mrs. T. Yalloway and Mrs. A. Spruyt.

Fall Fair On Friday

The George Jay Home and School Club will hold a fall fair, Friday, Oct. 20 beginning at 7:30 p.m. in the school auditorium.

Stalls will include home cooking, children's clothing, white elephants, comics and pocket books, doll clothes, sewing, plants, fruit and vegetables.

There is also a cooking contest, and entries must be in by 5:30 p.m.

Mrs. Parker tells about children's hotel-homes in Switzerland.—(Ryan Bros. photo.)

Baby Hotels

Swiss Have the Right Idea

By TERRY FRENCH

While you were on your holidays, where were your children? At camp? At grandma's or aunt's? Or were they along with you?

Particularly if you have very small children and babies, the latter was probably true.

A very interesting visitor to Victoria brings information about "homes" which solve the problem combination of holidays and children.

"In such beautiful surroundings, and with such healthy air, I'm surprised someone here hasn't opened some children's homes," says Mrs. Irene Parker visiting from Switzerland.

POUPONNIERE
Mrs. Parker's daughter has opened what is called a "Pouponniere," or home for small babies. In this particular home, called Pouponniere La Prairie, situated in Saint-Leger, above Vevey, with a gorgeous view of Lake Geneva, only children up to three years are taken.

Bearing no resemblance at all to an orphanage or institutionalized foster home as one would first think from its name, the home is for children whose parents are on holiday or through business are traveling.

Here the children stay, guests in their own little country hotel, complete with Miss Parker, who is an experienced children's nurse and another nurse, a large garden, small swimming pool, play rooms and nurseries.

Such homes, for children of all ages, are very common in Switzerland. Mrs. Parker says Pouponniere La Prairie was up until last year, Mrs. Parker's own home. Then the 15-room farmhouse was converted into the home for babies. Very strict regulations and restrictions cover the opening of such homes, and it is only after many inspections that the authorities give a licence. There are facilities for 12 babies at this home.

UNIVERSAL BABY TALK

Children from many parts of Europe stay from 3 weeks to a month and it was interesting to note Mrs. Parker's attitude toward a language difficulty. "The children are all under three... so it doesn't really matter. They understand any language, as it's really the expression on the face, and the understanding attitude that they look for. Yes, baby talk is quite universal!"

Mrs. Parker agreed that European parents have, probably, a different attitude about leaving their children behind when they holiday.

A North American mother would probably feel quite guilty leaving an infant at such a home while she and her husband took a holiday, but European parents realize the importance of getting away from the children, even from the babies, and having holidays alone together.

"Once they got used to the idea here, I'm sure it would be most popular."

ST. DAVID'S

St. David's Junior Choir, Cordova Bay elected the following officers for the new season, president (October to January), Miss Pat Fovang; president (February to May), Miss Catherine Gibbons; secretary, Miss Sarah Stephen; treasurer, Miss Julia Whiles. Choir conductor is Mrs. H. G. Walker.

Guild's 50th Anniversary Celebrated by Large Crowd

Over 1,000 people are on the parish register of St. Mary's Church, Oak Bay, and it appeared yesterday that almost all of them turned up for tea.

The lovely decorations were arranged by Mrs. R. A. Wootton and Mrs. P. R. Brown. Mrs. T. Weidon donated many of the flowers.

Running the gay harvest stall, colorful with polished apples and other autumn produce, were Mrs. F. W. Warde, Mrs. T. S. Whittenmore, Mrs. F. E. Womersley, Mrs. G. Ingledew, Mrs. A. C. Garner and Mrs. R. R. Sampson.

The church hall was filled with a mass of autumn blooms for the occasion, from white and scarlet begonias to armfuls of gold-tinted chrysanthemums. On the central tea tables, the flowers were flanked by tall golden tapers and the focal point was a huge gold and white anniversary cake.

The cake was cut by Mrs. Thornton Marshall, a president of the guild from 1922 to 1934. First president of the guild was the late Mrs. A. D. Crease.

Receiving the large numbers of visitors were Mrs. H. J. Jones, wife of Canon Jones, and Mrs. T. W. Kensington, current president of the guild. Tea pourers were Mrs. C. T. Teasdale, Mrs. C. F. Waters, Mrs. T. B. Bird and Mrs. H. Hamlet.

Serving tea were Mrs. J. H. Harman, Mrs. W. Arthur, Mrs. J. F. Preston, Mrs. R. H. Richardson, Mrs. A. H. Brown, Mrs. T. M. Hughes, Mrs. D. O.

Dry-Cleaning Machines You Can Use Yourself

By TERRY FRENCH

Can you imagine anyone rubbing into a beautiful wool dress and coat motor oil, Vaseline, mayonnaise, hair cream, margarine, butter and shampoo?

The thought is a bit ghastly, and one can assume that after such treatment the garments would be ruined.

Not so!

This experiment in dirtying of clothes was all part of a preview showing of a new coin-operated dry cleaning shop which opens at the Town & Country Shopping Centre today.

Back to the clothes . . . After the shoddy treatment they received, they were tossed into one of the dry-cleaning machines, left to tumble and whirl in a special non-flammable solvent for close to an hour. They were then removed, the attractive model put them back on, without even pressing them, and I must admit they looked wonderful.

What can you clean in the machines? Just about everything that you would send to a regular dry cleaning firm, the people who run it say.

Always on hand will be a counsellor who will answer questions and help customers in preparing the clothes for cleaning. Naturally there are some things you'd hesitate to send to the cleaners because of fragility of fabric or intricate decoration. These are the things you should think twice about before cleaning them yourself, and the counsellor will tell you to entrust them to a professional cleaner.

I had my own experience with the coin-operated dry cleaning machines. I walked into the preview showing, was greeted, then relieved of my coat. They then pulled my coat pockets inside out, brushed them, tested the plastic buttons with solvent, being satisfied that they didn't melt or anything, they turned my coat sort of inside out and tossed it into one of the machines. While I enjoyed conversation, descriptions of the machines and their workings, coffee and refreshments, my coat was cleaned. Before I left, it was taken from the machine, hung for a few minutes while any wrinkles fell out, then I put it on and went home.

I understand that some things need a slight pressing, such as a poplin car coat one man brought in, and a suit another man cleaned. The whole idea is an interesting one, and one which may prove to be a boon for the family's budget.

for the operation claims to save you up to 75% of cleaning costs. The convenience and low-cost would be noted particularly on items that need cleaning often because of their shade or texture, and on items

Your Problems

By Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: This office has been a battleground for three solid months. The war is about the air-conditioner. I realize summer is over, but please solve the problem now—for next year.

We have a single window-unit in this office which must be adjusted manually. One girl is always "dying from the heat." She insists on turning the unit up as high as it will go. Yesterday she set the controls to suit herself, then she put masking tape over the knobs and attached this sign: "Do Not Change."

Must the entire office force be subjected to colds, sore throats and sinus infections because of one oddball? The same girl has bought a fan which blows on her all summer, then adjust the air-conditioner (for the summer) and no one should be permitted to touch it.

The girl who is always "dying from the heat" should be given the desk closest to the unit. You should be at the other end of the room.

To learn the secret of feeling comfortable with the opposite sex, read Ann Landers' booklet, "How To Be Darn Good," starting with your request. To be sent and a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Canada's Need:

Road System,
Insurance
Across Nation

HALIFAX (CP)—Canada needs a national system of highways and uniform automobile liability insurance, J. G. McQueen of Ottawa, executive secretary of the Canadian Automobile Association, said yesterday.

Without them the tourist industry cannot be developed to its full potential, he told the Canadian Tourist Association.

A federally-backed highway system was needed to complement the nearly-completed Trans-Canada Highway. It would encourage the building of new tourist facilities.

URGENT OFFICIALS

Mr. McQueen said his association has urged provincial governments and insurance officials to agree on a uniform liability insurance identification certificate.

Some provinces have agreements among themselves but motorists from outside these provinces can have their cars impounded if they become involved in an accident, he said. "A few had experiences by the travelling public and tourism cannot help but be affected."

M. J. G. McMullen, general manager of the Manitoba Travel and Convention Bureau in Winnipeg, said advertising techniques have undergone a revolution since the introduction of television. These changes should be of particular concern to the tourist industry "which spends such vast sums of money on newspaper and magazine advertising each year."

Missing
Ship Sighted

HALIFAX (CP)—A Yugoslavian freighter which has not been heard from since Saturday was believed to be safe Tuesday night after a radio operator reported sighting the ship hundreds of miles off her original course.

RCAF Search and Rescue here said a radio operator on the Newfoundland west coast said he saw the freighter Hudduk moving through the Strait of Belle Isle Sunday. It appeared the freighter was heading for the St. Lawrence River.

The ship had been bound from Hull, Eng., to Churchill, Man., when she ran into a severe storm 700 miles east-northeast of Goose Bay, Labrador. She was in this position when she gave her last report.

A search and rescue spokesman said he could give no explanation why the ship had not made any radio contact when her captain decided to change course.

Two Subways

MONTREAL (CP)—La Presse says Montreal is going to build two subways—one running north and south, the other east and west—at a total cost of $150,000,000. Construction of the subways is to be completed within four years, the newspaper says.

Colorful MP Loses
Long Cancer Battle

OTTAWA (CP)—Colorful Mervyn Hardie, 43, Liberal MP for the sprawling northern constituency of Mackenzie River, died Wednesday after a long bout with cancer.

Liberal leader Lester Pearson said "his courage and his devotion were never better displayed than in the indomitable struggle he put up against hopeless odds in his last illness."

Mr. Hardie died in Ottawa Civic Hospital, where he had gone after one last visit last summer to a constituency stretching to the Arctic Ocean.

A one-time bush pilot, he was elected to the Commons in 1953 and was the only Liberal party survivor west of Ontario in the 1958 Conservative landslide.

Ottawa Guess

No Strong Ideas
In Money Probe

OTTAWA (UPI)—The royal commission named to study Canadian banking and finance is expected to be a pre-eminently judicial body and will not advance strong ideas of its own. This conclusion was the first reaction in Parliament Hill.

Other commissioners are W. Thomas Brown, 40, Vancouver investment firm president; Dr. W. A. Mackintosh, 66, vice-chancellor of Queen's University, Kingston; Paul Leman, 46, Montreal, Alcan vice-president; J. D. Gibson, 52, Toronto, Bank of Nova Scotia general manager; Gordon Harold, 57, Calgary, Alberta Wheat Pool chairman, and John MacKeen, 62, Halifax, Nova Scotia Power and Light Co. president.

In its lack of celebrities in the fields of international finance and banking, the commission is in striking contrast to its predecessor—the Lord Macmillan commission of 1933 which created the Bank of Canada.

Because of this, critics of banking and credit facilities in Canada may count upon having a field day before the new commission.

$30,000 for Students

Award Day Friday

Scholarships with a total value of almost $30,000 will be awarded Friday at Victoria University's Gordon Head campus to more than 75 students of the institution.

The richly traditional ceremony begins at 8 p.m. with the parade of a cap-and-gown university faculty and will come to a climax with an address by English Prof. Roger Bishop.

As the total suggests, scholarships have become a "big business" at universities. Many are granted by organizations with an eye on prospective employees.

NEW SCHOLARSHIP

One of the largest—a $500 annual B.C. Centennial Scholarship—is also one of the newest, having been set up in 1958.

The university principal's annual report will be given at the awards day meeting.

Boy Bounces from Bed Right Out of Window

NEW WESTMINSTER (CP)—Three-and-a-half-year-old Carl Watkins was bouncing on his bed with his 11-year-old brother Phillip. He bounced out a bedside window and fell 25 feet to the back stairs of his home. Carl spent the night in hospital, but doctors said yesterday he'll be fine.

Fluoridation Beaten In Calgary—Again

CALGARY (CP) — A resounding defeat of fluoridation of Calgary's water supplies was indicated Wednesday night in early unofficial returns from a plebiscite held with civic elections. With 75 of 410 polls heard from, 4,478 had voted for fluoridation and 3,251 against. A 66% majority is required for approval. Fluoridation also was turned down in 1957. Meanwhile, Mayor Harry Hays of Calgary won a second two-year term easily, trouncing his only opponent, school teacher Art McFaul, who ran with Calgary Labor Council backing.

In Edmonton, Mayor Elmer Roper scored a similar runaway victory to win his second term. He defeated Ald. Edmund Leger and Edmonton lawyer R. B. Simmons.

But in Lethbridge, where city council has elected its mayor from among council members, Mayor A. W. Shackleford was defeated in his bid to regain a council seat. He had served on council 20 years, 11 as mayor. Lethbridge voted to elect its mayor starting with the next general ballot.

Harkness Hits Shipyard Hopes

No Direct Allocation of Work

Victoria Labor Council's hopes for a "sure thing" contract for modernizing St. Laurent class destroyers in local shipyards were dashed last night by a letter from Defence Minister Douglas Harkness.

LET FOR TENDERS

Mr. Harkness said there was no direct allocation of the work to Victoria yards, and the jobs would be let for tenders as a part of regular policy.

And at the same time, the V.L.C. demand for re-fit work to help ease the local yards through a period of slack early in the year was criticized by a dockyard union delegate.

'WOULD COST JOBS'

Fred Bevis, International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, said such re-fits, if contracted to shipyards, would cost a number of dockyard workers their jobs.

"About 100 men have been let out of the dockyard in the past month... and I understand a more extensive lay-off list is being prepared. We can't seem to find any reason for this wholesale slaughter.

"The navy does a good, economical job on the refitting of ships. And the money expended pays for no trips to the Bahamas."

Cars Hog Campus

VANCOUVER (CP) — UBC officials said Wednesday the campus is in danger of becoming a blacktop jungle unless more students start to ride buses instead of bringing their cars. Parking lots now cover between seven and 10 acres at the university.

"It is a tremendous injustice to a number of people," he said, to ask for re-fit work to be switched to private yards.

Council secretary A. W. Toome said representations made to Mr. Harkness for re-fit work to help ease the slack period of January, February and March had included work for the dockyard.

Marxist Hits Red Repression

WARSAW (AP) — Adam Schaff, 48, Poland's chief Marxist theoretician, says the restrictions on individual freedom in the Communist system are the West's "strongest propaganda trump card against communism and Marxism today."

"It is beyond doubt that if the capitalist world lost its trump card as the alleged defender of the rights to freedom of the individual in the struggle with communism, it would mean its final defeat," the Polish philosopher writes.

Schaff's statements appeared in a series of articles entitled "The Conflict of Humanism." The last article in the series was published this week in the weekly Przegląd Kulturalny (Cultural Review).

The philosophical treatise severely criticizes Communist rulers who cling to methods of compulsion and repression as the easiest way to govern.

"People simply get accustomed to a certain method of governing and acting and adapt the ideology to their own habits, particularly to those habits which are comfortable to them," he says.

Schaff deplores the continuation of Communist methods of repression and the lack of freedom within the Communist party that existed during the Stalinist period of "errors and distortions."

"It is easier to reject verbally and to condemn the mistakes of the period of the cult of the individual than to change the practice which was accepted and which prevailed in that period," he says.

Schaff is a close personal friend of Polish Communist chief Wladyslaw Gomulka.

Committee Asks

Review Profits Of Water Sale

Saanich council will be asked to review profits from the sale of water at year's end to determine if there is justification to complaints that bills in many cases have doubled since rates were increased.

The recommendation will go to next Monday's council from the finance committee which debated the issue this week.

REAL POSSIBILITY

Coun. Joseph Casey, chairman of finance, said he felt there is a "real possibility" water rate reductions in some middle brackets would result from the proposed survey.

He said "dozens" of water users had complained to him water bills were double those under the old rates.

COMPLAINTS REPORTED — Victoria city officials reported complaints were continuing to come in at a steady rate. Since Esquimalt followed suit recently there have been a "fair number" of complaints from there, too.

Greater Victoria water board has decided to give a retroactive wholesale discount to municipalities on up to 10 per cent of their consumption as a means of encouraging large industrial users.

It turned down a request for a special individual discount of five cents per 1,000 gallons under the standard price, 13 cents this year, for Royal Jubilee and St. Joseph's Hospitals on grounds it would set a dangerous precedent for a wholesaling agency.

Instead, the board asked intermunicipal committee to study some form of joint reduction by the retailing municipalities.

'Outsiders Taking Local Jobs'

An official of the Carpenters' Union told Victoria Labor Council last night that non-resident—and in many cases non-union workers—were reaping the employment benefits in Greater Victoria's construction industry.

TRADESMEN IMPORTED

He said there had been a number of cases in the past year where local construction projects were carried out by outside firms which imported labor and tradesmen for the job.

"We have found that a number of local sub-contractors can't even tender on these projects because tradesmen are brought in from the mainland at below-union rates," he said.

CLAUSES DEMANDED

His demand that the labor council ask for "protective clauses" in all contracts for public buildings such as schools and hospitals, specifying that "only local labor be hired—when and where available," was adopted unanimously by the council.

VOW Women Beg Nikita

A telegram has been sent to Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev by the Victoria branch of the Voice of Women pleading for a change in the Russian decision to explode a 50-megaton bomb.

The wire, which was also sent by every VOW group in the nation, asked that the Russian chief "exercise compassion toward innocent people" and added, "we beg you not to explode this 50-megaton weapon."

Garden Notes

Sweet and Costly

By M. V. CHERNUT, FREE
I believe the hyacinth must be just about the most universally admired of all our bulb flowers. Potted up for indoor bloom, its sweet fragrance can perfume the whole room and the glowing colors of its rainbow hues have endeared this flower to gardeners ever since the first bulbs were introduced to Europe from Persia in the 14th century.

While everyone loves hyacinths, there seems to be a general feeling that the bulbs are too expensive for massed planting outdoors and this impression is borne out when you see the price tags on the cartons of bulbs in the stores. Tubergen's Scarlet, for instance, will set you back 50 cents a bulb, the apricot-salmon Orange Boven 35 cents, the lilac-mauve Amethyst 80 cents and the lovely yellow Glispy Queen as much as 75 cents each.

The thing to remember, though, is that these prices are for top size bulbs of exhibition quality, ideal for potted plants but such superb specimens are quite unnecessary for bedding or massed display in the outdoor garden. Second size bulbs will serve just as well for this purpose and are very much cheaper.

Good named varieties can be purchased in the No. 2 size for about $3 a dozen, or if you buy by color instead of by name, they can be had for as little as $15 per 100. When you consider how much mileage you get out of a hyacinth bulb, these prices make their massed outdoor use quite a practicable proposition. While the bulbs and the flower spikes will be smaller than the exhibition grades, they will be just as beautiful and just as fragrant and you can count upon all of them blooming, with no blank spots in the bed.

Hyacinths like a rich soil. You can forget all that nonsense about never using manure in a bulb bed, for it really does pay to dig in plenty of old rotted stuff—the spent manure from old mushroom and cucumber beds is ideal. Chemical fertilizers don't seem to work too well with this subject, although a little superphosphate scratched into the soil surface makes for a more vigorous rooting system—say, about half a cupful per square yard.

To get a dense mass of bloom, it is best to crowd the bulbs in fairly close together, about nine inches apart each way. Better stick to one variety or color, so that all will bloom at the same time—a mixture of early and late-blooming kinds would make for a patchy display. They need to be set in the ground six inches deep.

While there is some advantage in planting such bulbs as daffs, crocuses and snowdrops early, the last week in October is time enough for the hyacinths and even the middle of November isn't too late. There is no particular trick in the planting—just take out a hole with the hand trowel and drop in the bulb. Just for insurance, I make a practice of dusting both bulb and hole with either bulb dust or chlordane but I have never had any trouble with pests or diseases in my hyacinths.

After the flowers are finished, the plants need a further 40 days of growth in the soil to plump up the bulb for the following year's display. This can be a bit of a nuisance, as the dying foliage in the later stages looks horribly untidy and we are usually anxious about this time to get the bed cleared and planted up with summer-flowering annuals.

The trick here is to dig up the plants carefully, taking a good ball of soil around the roots, and transplant them in full growth to a row in the vegetable plot to complete their life cycle. After the foliage has died down completely, the bulbs are lifted, dried off and stored in the basement until planting time in the fall.

Crime Offers Fine Investment

What I like about "David Brinkley's Journal" is that it has the dry editorial bite of truth instead of press agency and I was enormously encouraged by the fact that the first TV program has brought a howl of rage from the chamber of commerce of Cocoa Beach, Fla. If Cocoa Beach had loved it, the rest of us would probably have been bored to death.

Brinkley's second program was broadcast last night. The title was "Crime Pays," and the title said about what the cynical have said privately for years.

Brinkley's opening words on this program—and no truer words were ever spoken—were: "They used to run little ads in the back pages of Popular Mechanics saying—'Boys, make big money! Be a fox farmer! Well, attractive as that might be, a young American who wants to make a lot of money and meet interesting people may very well decide his best career opportunity is to become a gangster because crime is a growth industry already bigger than steel, oil, or automobiles."

"A young criminal in the beginning may need a little muscle, but later on he won't use his muscle any more. He will use lawyers. No formal education is required."

It is about time we faced up to the fact that all our national myths, the most idiotic is the prestige that crime doesn't pay. The hour-long program is devoted to showing how untouched by law enforcement the hoodlums are, how well they live in their huge Grosse Pointe mansions, and how rich and happy the professional mobster is.

At the end of the program, U.S. Attorney-General Robert Kennedy appeared to say that if big time crime (J. Edgar Hoover in a recently published letter said, "Fundamentally crime is a local problem"), continues unchecked, big-time gangsters will ultimately "have a major effect on our community and control our economy."

"They (the gangsters) are in all kinds of businesses," continued Kennedy, "unions and trucking and vending machines, in restaurants, in the export and import business, in hotels, in the soft drink industry, in the garment industry, in real estate and grocery chains, in shipping and law firms. Big-time gangsters have replaced the machinegun with attorneys, with lawyers—the professional fixers."

Something has to be done about it and the only thing that's going to be done is by the American people and those charged with authority, taking some major steps and doing something now."

Brinkley's producer is Ted Yates, a fearless, capable, and honest man—and there aren't so many of those around—who says he and Brinkley are "trying to introduce a little irony and satire into this turgid, boring, fatheaded public affairs area."

Brinkley is one of the first to bring wit to reporting on television. Elmer Davis had a marvelous gift for irony too, but his was a radio personality. Brinkley and Yates, who has enormous integrity, should make a formidable team as Fred Friendly and Edward R. Murrow.

"Don't play it safe is our one rule," says Yates. "This is like being a kamikaze pilot. But terribly exhilarating. No television performer can last forever and Brinkley is counting on it. This show is what I would want to see. It's produced for our own amusement."

Sick-Bed Vow Pays Off

LONDON (NANA) — When Elizabeth Taylor was near death at the London clinic a few months ago, she asked visitor Sam Spiegel, "If I live—" "Not only are you going to live," Sam interrupted, "but you and Eddie are going to have another honeymoon on my yacht." "When she recovered," Sam told me, "she sent me a cable saying, 'I'm calling your bluff.' The big yacht met them at Naples and Liz and Eddie sailed off into the wild blue yonder—until she had to report for "Cleopatra."

Stop the presses: Burly Robert Morley does some dancing in the finale of the Kenneth Harper musical movie, "The Young Ones," which also stars singer Cliff Richards.

Susan Hayward and husband Chakley Eaton rented a house near Epsom. And Susan does the cooking when she returns home from filming "I Thank a Fool." This is for publicity—it's to please Mr. Eaton.

New York stage star Tammy Grimes should count up to 10 before she takes that week off from her play to visit ex-husband Christopher Plummer. Chris, starring here in "Becket," is currently pursuing an attractive English newswoman.

I must call on my friend Jacques Bergerac when in Rome next week and find out the story behind the story of his dancing date with ex-queen Soraya. I thought the green-eyed ex-monarch had given the exclusive for her actor dates to Hugh O'Brien.

The big theatrical event in England is Sir John Gielgud's "Othello" at Stratford-on-Avon. Some of the critics liked him. Some thought John's tenor was too high for the sombre, suspicious Moor of Shakespeare's tragedy.

Sir Laurence Olivier is adamant. He swore a mighty oath—that he would never in this life give another interview. Well, I'll just have to get my harp and twang it with him in the next.

Wandering around the Chemin De Fer legalized gambling room at John Mills' place in Mayfair, who should I see but Los Angeles columnist Joan Winchell who has been eating her way through Europe—for her column, of course. We swapped restaurant data.

The biggest movie hit in London is "A Taste of Honey." It was even praised by Penelope Giliat who rarely praises a film. Penelope's husband, Dr. Roger Giliat, was best man at the wedding of Tony and Princess Margaret. But according to current reports here, the best man in the life of Penelope is "Angry Young Playwright" John Osborne.

Which reminds me, Mary Ure, now separated from Osborne, reports she's in no hurry to work again, "until I find something suitable." Mary insists she is not interested in marriage with Robert Shaw—actor named by Osborne in his divorce suit.

The film version of "The Manchurian Candidate" has been toned down considerably. But even so, Lawrence Harvey's role will be very dramatic. Larry likes the role so much that he omitted his usual percentage of the profits. He still has $300,000 to keep him warm in the picture with Frank Sinatra and Deborah Kerr.

LET'S TALK

By Rudolf Fleck

If you think that under the North American tax system millionaires pay vastly higher taxes than you, you're wrong. Percentage-wise, the Rockefellers, Fords and Du Ponts pay just about the same income tax you do, and perhaps even less.

I got this astonishing revelation—with facts, figures and patches. Its vaunted progressiveness to back it up—from a new book by Louis Elsenstein, "The Ideologies of Taxation" (Ronald), which lays the graduated rates—and a good number of them are also system right on the line. "Income tax," says Mr. Elsen-

Better Lawyers?

How come? Do the rich have so many loopholes open to them? Is it because they can hire better lawyers? Or do they hide all their extra income in padded expense accounts?

No, says Mr. Elsenstein, it's even simpler than that. The tax system is the result of many decades of wrangling among special interest groups. In the course of the years, just about everybody with a better-than-average income has been given some dispensation to make his tax burden lighter—and lighter—and lighter. Now, Americans with any income at all beyond a regular pay cheque can pick and choose among hundreds of ways of cutting down on taxes.

In the U.S., there's the capital gains tax, which never goes higher than 25 per cent and which can be applied to income in scores of fascinating ways, among special interest groups. Then there are tax-exempt bonds. Then there are stock options, which make it possible to pay a minimum of income tax on a maximum executive salary.

Even for Turkeys

Then there's the famous percentage depletion for all income from oil, gas, coal, minerals and what have you. And then there are special exemptions for livestock, turkeys, Christmas trees and a thousand other pleasant sources of income.

And if all these neat devices aren't enough, there is always Congress for extra financial help. The late Louis B. Mayer of Hollywood enjoyed the blessings of a special law—the Mayer amendment—which saved him some $2,000,000 in taxes.

Bogus Cheques
Passed by Man
In City Stores

Irvin McLeod, no fixed address, was sentenced to 18 months in jail on each of nine counts by Acting Magistrate J. A. Byers in city police court yesterday. All were made concurrent.

McLeod had pleaded guilty to nine charges of obtaining goods by false pretences with worthless cheques — seven times in the T. Eaton Company store, once at O. H. Dorman Ltd., 1328 Douglas, and once at the Hudson's Bay Company store.

In each case, court was told, McLeod presented a cheque drawn on a bank at which he had no account. Police added that McLeod co-operated with them, and helped recover most of the goods involved.

Thomas Hammond, 2631 Cedar Hill, pleaded guilty to four charges of breaking, entering and theft, all on the night of Sept. 23-24, and was remanded to Oct. 25 for probation report and sentence.

Det. Alex. Briggs said Hammond had attended a drinking party on John Street the night of Sept. 23, where another youth, employed by a cleaning firm, had keys to a number of establishments in downtown Victoria.

Later in the evening and early next morning, Hammond and the key holder (since sentenced for his part in the affair) went to Maison George beauty parlor, 633 Fort; the Chamber of Commerce at 1217 Douglas; Independent Order of Foresters, 2618 Quadra, and International Business Machines, 2008 Douglas.

Police Use Dogs
Against Negroes

JACKSON, Miss. (UPI) — Police used six snarling dogs to break up an anti-segregation demonstration, and one of them bit a Negro bystander.

Several Negro students were chased several blocks after protesting against the segregated state fair.

Realtor Admits
More Offences

Victoria real estate dealer John Blair pleaded guilty in city police court yesterday to two charges of theft by conversion and one of false pretences.

On Tuesday Blair was found guilty by an Assize Court jury of defrauding an elderly city couple of $12,000 on a mortgage deal, and had been remanded for sentence on that charge to Monday.

Yesterday he was remanded to Tuesday for particulars on the new charges, and for sentence.

The three charges involved a total of $9,500.

If Baby Cries Call the VON

The first week after a young mother brings her new baby home from a hospital can be one long nightmare of insecurity, fear for the infant's health and panic over the slightest whimper.

Thanks to the 10 dedicated women who make up the local branch of the Victorian Order of Nurses, however, many mothers are learning to handle their babies competently and without fear.

VERY BAD TIME

"Those first few days home from hospital can be a very bad time for a new mother," says Miss Elizabeth Riddle, Victoria's VON director.

Faced with beginning the baby's daily routine, a mother can panic.

Every cry is the symptom of a horrible malady. The baby looks so fragile, she's afraid to touch it for fear of dropping it.

The thing for a frightened mother to do, of course, is to get onto the VON by telephone before the panic gets out of hand.

A skilled nurse will shortly arrive with help, instructions and—most important of all—some moral support.

The United Appeal-supported VON provided many of its services free. In the past year, some 7,300 "baby visits" were made at no charge to mothers.

NEEDS $65,000

This bustling agency needs more than $65,000 to carry on this year.

Pre-natal classes—designed to build up the mother's confidence and competence—were attended by 400 Victorians last year.

Fees charged for nursing service are based on a "pay-what-you-can" schedule. Last year, 20 per cent of this service was given free and 22 per cent of patients only paid a fractional fee.

MLA Raps Hall Plan

Don't Be Second-Rate

Victoria should develop a civic centre with a new city hall in the three-block area bounded by Flanagan, Douglas, Pandora and Government rather than buy a second-rate, second-hand city hall, Victoria MLA J. Donald Smith said last night.

"It seems a shame Mayor Percy Scurrah has so little confidence in the city he faces a second-hand building would be satisfactory," he said.

CLOSED DOORS

"I am opposed to the city attempting to acquire this B.C. Hydro building for a city hall."

Mr. Smith's attack came on the eve of a special, closed-door meeting of city council at 9 a.m. today to discuss possibility of buying the Hydro building and converting it into a city hall.

TALKS TUESDAY

Mayor Scurrah will report on negotiations Tuesday afternoon with Dr. Hugh Keenleyside, chairman of the B.C. Hydro commission. The commission is expected to move into the B.C. Electric building Jan. 1 when it takes over BCE operations in Victoria.

Mr. Smith said that, if Oak Bay and Esquimalt can afford to build new municipal halls, Victoria should be able to do the same.

"The B.C. Hydro building was not built or designed for a city hall," he said. "It doesn't look like a city hall and it would not be practical."

"If and when we get a new city hall I am sure the majority of the taxpayers will want a brand new building."

AMALGAMATE ALL

Mr. Smith said city council should close off Cormorant Street, between Douglas and Government, and Broad Street, between Pandora and Cormorant, and amalgamate all the land.

Included in the civic centre should be landscaping, a new city hall, new police station, an auditorium, off-street parking and a downtown recreation centre for elderly citizens.

City Poles Shine Blue And Bright

Repainting of Victoria's 780 cluster light standards and 250 other light poles in two tones of blue began this week.

The poles were last painted in 1947. The contractor who painted the poles then has the new contract. He is George Milligan, 325 Langford.

City lighting committee chose blue for the poles as part of a program to brighten the appearance of Victoria. A light blue is used for the top part of the poles with a darker blue on the bases.

City Auxiliary Forces To Hold Open House

The public will be able to see Victoria's auxiliary military forces in action Saturday morning.

Some 75 high school students participating in the Young Soldiers Training Plan will hold an open house at Bay Street Armory at 10 a.m.

Various units of 25 Militia

Group will be on hand to give demonstrations. Among other things, the public will see a gun drill by members of the Artillery Battery, a Signal Corps demonstration of wire-less equipment and a small-scale national survival exercise.

The field cooking unit of the Army Service Corps will serve refreshments.

'62 CORVAIR

SPORTS CAR SPIRIT...FAMILY CAR FUNCTION

We might as well tell you straight off: Corvair's the car for the driving enthusiast. Think that lets you out? Maybe. Maybe not.

Until you've driven one, you really can't say for sure, because Corvair's kind of driving is like no other in the land. The amazing air-cooled rear engine sees to that. You swing around curves flat as you please, in complete control. You whip through the sticky spots other cars should keep out of in the first place. You stop smoothly, levelly with Corvair's balanced braking, enhanced for '62 with greater lining area and a redesigned master cylinder.

And Corvair's found other new ways to please you this year. A forced-air heater and defroster are standard. So are dual sunshades and front-door armrests and many other so-called extras. You'll note the elegant styling too, enhanced by a new choice of 14 solid colours and 10 two tone combinations. So take this most care-free of cars for a short spin soon.

But first be warned—driving Corvair-style is highly contagious. See your Chevrolet dealer and discover the many merits of the '62 Corvair.

A New World of Worth

EXTRA ACTION! If you've an urge for action, Corvair's the one to satisfy! There's a spunky 80 hp. Turbo-Air engine or the peppy new 102 hp. Turbo-Air engine. Topped with a choice of three sturdy transmissions: 3-speed standard, 4-speed* or Powerglide®. With any of these action-packed combinations you'll wind up a Corvair with the most overnight.

EXTRA ROOM FOR RELAXATION! Stretch-out comfort for the whole family is yours in Corvair! And thanks to that virtually flat floor, the man in the middle gets his share of space. While you relax in this man-sized comfort, Corvair's new fabrics and finish add an elegant new touch to the interior.

Can Insane Wife Cash In on Death?

Estate's Fate Hangs on B.C. Murder Appeal

OTTAWA (CP) — Can a woman whose insanity led to the death of her husband in a fire cash in on his estate?

This question was placed before the Supreme Court of Canada Wednesday in an appeal by B.C.'s Attorney-General Bonner against a judgment of the B.C. Appeal Court. John Alfred Nordstrom died in a fire that destroyed his Lulu Island home May 30, 1956.

A coroner's jury found Nordstrom had been slain and the Crown charged the fire was started by his wife Kathleen. She was declared insane and is a patient at Esmondale.

Mrs. Jean Baumann of Penikese, a daughter of Nordstrom by a prior marriage, asked the B.C. Supreme Court to determine if Mrs. Nordstrom "by whose hand the fatal fire was started" was entitled to her husband's estate.

This court ruled Mrs. Nordstrom was not a criminal at the time of her husband's death. It said she was insane when she started the fire and was entitled to the estate.

However, the B.C. Appeal Court reversed the decision on grounds a provincially constituted court has no jurisdiction to determine in civil proceedings if a person has committed a crime. Mr. Bonner opposes this claim.

Students Tune Up for United Appeal

Juelsberg, Larry McCann, Doug Richardson, Su Stoddart, Mike Hutchison, Tony Cairns and Brian Thompson. Some 90 student volunteers will assist in residential canvass. — (Robin Clarke photo.)

Socred Claims

B.C. Cabinet Taken In By Swede

VANCOUVER (CP)—A Social Credit MLA said yesterday that the provincial government was "misled" by interests representing Swedish millionaire industrialist Axel Wenner-Gren with promises of building a vast industrial empire in the north.

Bert Price, member for Vancouver-Burrard, told a club luncheon Tuesday that Premier Bennett's government had been "taken in" by Wenner-Gren. Expanding on this in an interview yesterday he said the only reason Premier Bennett was interested was because unemployment was on the increase in 1956.

"Wenner-Gren came along and made great promises about putting men to work," Mr. Price said. "The promises failed to materialize."

PEARKES, NOT BENNETT, SOLE ARBITER OVER BCE RIGHT TO SUE SAYS MANSON

UN Group Out-Votes Reds On Nuclear Tests Issue

UNITED NATIONS (AP)—The United Nations political committee overrode Soviet opposition and voted Wednesday to give urgent consideration to the issue of halting nuclear weapons tests.

Actual debate will begin this morning in the 101-nation committee. The Western powers are expected to assail the Soviet Union for its announced plans to cap its current series of atmospheric nuclear tests with a 50-megaton bomb blast.

INDIAN PLAN LISTED
By a vote of 83 to 10 with four abstentions the committee decided to list as its first item of business an Indian proposal for a new voluntary moratorium on nuclear testing.

U.S. MOVE APPROVED
Then the committee approved a U.S. move to debate simultaneously the Indian proposal and a U.S.-British resolution on the urgent need for a treaty to end tests under effective international control.

The vote was 54 to 13 with 31 abstentions. The Soviet bloc, Cuba, Mali, India and Senegal voted no. Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Valerian Zorin immediately denounced the committee's decision. He said the debate "cannot have any positive results."

PROMISES REPEATED
Speaking as first secretary of the Soviet Communist party, Khrushchev presented his party "platform" to more than 5,000 delegates at the second day of the 22nd party congress.

He also issued a special invitation to the underdeveloped nations of Latin America, Asia and Africa to "throw off the yoke of colonialism and enter on the road to socialism."

"ON DECLINE"
Khrushchev told the delegates that "American capitalism has passed its prime and is on the decline."

China Praises Nikita Enemy

TOKYO (UPI)—Shortly after Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev denounced Albania in his Kremlin speech Tuesday, Communist China's Peking radio broadcast a speech that did just the opposite.

Yang Yun-Yu, leader of the Chinese women's delegation to the fifth congress of the Women's Union of Albania, was quoted as praising the "correct leadership of the Albanian Labor (Communist) party headed by its long-tested leader, comrade Enver Hoxha, holding aloft the revolutionary banner of Marxism-Leninism and working in the spirit of holding the pick in one hand and the rifle in the other."

She praised Hoxha's "creative work" and said "we heartily admire your revolutionary heroism... We assure you that we will always be with you, even in storm and stress."

Khrushchev attacked Albanian Communist chief Enver Hoxha for practicing the Stalinist "cult of personality."

Nations Back Canadian Plan

UNITED NATIONS (CP)—The United States and Britain Wednesday threw their support behind a Canadian-led campaign for a world-wide measurement of atomic radioactivity from nuclear tests and other causes.

Soviet Premier Khrushchev's Moscow announcement of plans to set off the most powerful explosion in history was seen as a clear psychological factor for the actions of country after country in supporting a Canadian resolution co-sponsored by 24 other nations.

Of 17 countries addressing the 101-member United Nations special political committee Wednesday, only Indonesia indicated it would turn down the Canadian draft and support instead an opposing Czechoslovakia resolution much more limited in scope.

But Russia and other Soviet-bloc countries scheduled to speak today are expected to renew the attack launched by Czechoslovakia, which charged that the Canadian plan oversteps the bounds of scientific effort into the political, cold-war field.

Don't Surrender Says Macmillan

LONDON (UPI)—Prime Minister Macmillan warned the Western powers last night "not to let the Russians drive a wedge between us."

In winding up the two-day extraordinary session of Parliament called to debate foreign affairs, Macmillan also called on the allies not to "drift into panic" over the Berlin crisis.

"We are working for a negotiation and we must not be rattled into surrender," he said.

"We must not be—and I am not—afraid of negotiations."

The prime minister said the West had several proposals to put to the Soviet Union over Berlin but that he could not give details at the present time.

He said he thought some parts of Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev's speech yesterday showed Soviet recognition of Western firmness on Berlin.

He also made these points:
—Britain would not hesitate to call up reserves by Royal proclamation if there was a further deterioration in the world situation.

—Russian threats to sign a unilateral peace treaty with East Germany were "bad law... and unacceptable..."

—United States and British policy on Southeast Asia are in "complete harmony."

Reds Snub John D

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister Diefenbaker said last night Canada attempted to lodge a protest with the Soviet government over its announced intention to explode a 50-megaton nuclear bomb—but it was rejected.

Mr. Diefenbaker told a reporter the protest was rejected by the Russian embassy here on the ground that the bomb launching, scheduled for the end of this month, was "a domestic matter."

REFUSAL RARE
Wording of the note was not revealed. Outright refusal to accept such a note is considered rare but is not unprecedented.

Earlier, Mr. Diefenbaker said: "No one can deny continued experimentation of these devices will ultimately lead to war and to a war measured in megatons."

TWO STEPS
Mr. Diefenbaker told reporters the government has considered two possible steps—a protest to the Soviet Union and sponsorship of a United Nations resolution condemning the proposed Soviet blast.

He said External Affairs Minister Green might "take an immediate initiative at the UN" to have the test condemned.

Immense Fallout Menace to Canada

TORONTO (UPI)—A Toronto newspaper said yesterday Russia's giant 50-megaton H-bomb, along with others tested recently, could shower Canada with more radioactive debris than all other nuclear weapons detonated in the world to date.

The newspaper's science editor, Leonard Bertin, said the "peculiar pattern of higher atmospheric mixing over Canada," apparently gave the Great Lakes area "more than its fair share of any fallout."

He said Canada's position on the globe in relation to northern Russia was also a factor in increasing fallout debris over this country.

Bertin said one result could be "the risk of gross injury in the form of leukemia, or bone cancer."

He said results might not show themselves until "15 to 20 years time."

Payroll Plan For Shelters

NEW YORK (UPI)—Interest-free loans of $1,000 or less were made available Wednesday to employees of International Business Machines Corp. to build family fallout shelters.

The shelter loans would be repayable over a three-year period through payroll deductions.

Blacklists Going To Neighbors

By EDMUND COSGROVE
Organized labor will issue neighborhood blacklists of workers who cross picket lines in three current strikes affecting Vancouver Island.

The action is aimed particularly at Taylor, Pearson and Carson and R. F. Goodrich plants, struck by the Retail Wholesale and Department Stores Workers Union.

But it also encompasses the Retail Food and Drug Clerks strike against Woolworth's Ltd. in Port Alberni and the Steelworkers strike in Vancouver.

Recommendations of the B.C. Federation of Labor, which call for circulating "scab" lists among all BCFL affiliates and the neighborhoods where the "strikebreakers" reside, were adopted unanimously by the Victoria Labor Council last night.

STOP BUYING
A seven-point program of support for the three striking unions asks union members to stop buying Standard Oil products throughout B.C.

The federation says the oil company was "prolonging" the strike of the Retail Wholesale Union by its continued support of Taylor, Pearson and Carson and R. F. Goodrich, two firms struck by the union.

RETURN CARDS
Officials said lower mainland unions had followed the federation policy of asking members of all affiliated unions to return gasoline credit cards to Standard Oil.

Premier's Ruling Called Insolent

By PETER BRUTON

Lieutenant-Governor George Pearkes has sole authority to permit a legal suit over terms of the B.C. Electric seizure and can fire the cabinet if it refuses to accept his ruling, according to retired Supreme Court justice A. M. Manson.

The one-time B.C. attorney-general said it was clearly spelled out in the B.C. statutes that the granting of a fiat to prosecute the government was the prerogative of Lieutenant-Governor George Pearkes and not the cabinet.

The recently-retired justice said it was "an insolent thing" for Premier Bennett to say the fiat would not be granted.

Government legal officials were studying the new development last night.

Attorney-General Robert Bonner, now out of town, is due back in Victoria today.

B.C. Power Corporation, parent body of the former BCE, bought the fiat to sue the government for $225,000 as compensation for the company instead of the $110,000 arbitrarily set by the government.

Police Club Rioters

CIUDAD TRUJILLO (AP) — Police attacked demonstrators with clubs last night in one of the worst flare-ups of violence since dictator Rafael Trujillo was assassinated last May.

It was the third straight day of anti-government demonstrations touched off by the closing of Santo Domingo University. Rioting broke out in the country's major cities.

YOUTHFUL ROCKS
Clashes between rock-hurling youths and police near the heart of this capital climaxed a day of unrest. Police waded into a crowd of shouting youths and beat at least a dozen unconscious.

POLICE DONT SHOOT
Police drew revolvers as a shower of stones fell around them but they withheld fire. At least four other persons were hurt earlier as students and workers rioted here and elsewhere.

UNIVERSITY CLOSED
The riots started three days ago when angry students at the university demanded the removal of recently-appointed rector Jose Manuel Machado on grounds he was too pro-Trujillo.

Ferry Plane Crashes Claiming Seven Lives

TRAVIS AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (UPI)—A small civilian ferry plane crashed and burned near the runway yesterday, killing all seven persons aboard.

The plane was a two-engine C-45 transport used to taxi military personnel from this base 40 miles into San Francisco. It was making one of 10 daily round-trip flights.

Families Flee Acid Fumes

CHICAGO (UPI)—Two chemical explosions ripped a cosmetics plant yesterday and touched off a shock wave that injured at least 250 persons and damaged more than 150 buildings.

The blasts shattered the chemical mixing plant at Helena Curtis Industries as employees, warned by an automatic alarm that an explosion was close, ran for their lives.

RAIL OF GLASS
The explosions unleashed a hail of splintered glass and flying debris, shattered windows in a 20-block area, rocked a wide area of the city and resounded in suburban Evanston, nine miles away.

Terrified housewives poured into the streets of the north-west side residential and industrial district, some panicky with fears that a bomb had exploded in their midst.

FAMILIES FLEE
Hydrochloric acid fumes spewed from ruptured tanks and spread over the area. Some families fled from their homes to escape the choking fumes. Firemen for a time considered evacuating the district.

$300,000 DAMAGE
The blasts wrecked at least $300,000 damage at the cosmetics plant and a nearby Zenith Corp. factory, where 350 windows were blown out. Some unofficial estimates ran as high as $1,000,000. The evacuation alarm was credited with saving many workers from death or mangle injuries.

Nikita Triumphs At Party Rally

By HENRY SHAPIRO
MOSCOW (UPI)—The 22nd Soviet Communist Party Congress, only in its second day yesterday, already has become a personal triumph for Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev.

AWARE OF STRENGTH
The Soviet party chief seems to be fully aware of his strength. He exudes supreme confidence in the success of his policies.

It is obviously Khrushchev's congress, and will continue to be so for the next two weeks. Between one-quarter and one-third of his immediate associates are scheduled for removal from the apex of Soviet power.

NOT PLEASED
Yesterday Khrushchev drew the line under his brief and bloodless struggle with his political enemies and emerged the unchallenged leader of the Soviet Union.

The Chinese delegates could not have been pleased by Khrushchev's insistence on washing dirty linen in public.

STALIN'S MISDEEDS
Like V. M. Molotov, Chou En-lai might have preferred to hush up Stalin's misdeeds and keep the Soviet quarrel with Albania inside the Communist family.

But Khrushchev told the congress that he believes in the line under his brief and bloodless struggle with his political enemies and emerged the unchallenged leader of the Soviet Union.

'Riders' Scorned By Negro

NEW YORK (UPI)—A Negro representative of the Mississippi State Sovereignty Commission yesterday told a jeering audience of Columbia University students that the "Freedom Riders" were a "needless, useless, unwarranted intrusion" on his state.

Joseph Albright, 61, said that "Mississippi's segregation laws must be respected by all."

He said that most of the people he knows in Mississippi favor segregation. Albright also showed a film to the 250 students called "A Message from Mississippi" dealing with segregation.

During Albright's speech he was repeatedly heckled by members of the audience, including a Negro student who tried to shout him down.

East, West See Things Differently

Stargazers Swap Venom

BOMBAY (CP)—A blazing debate is raging here on the relative merits of Oriental and Occidental methods of peeping into the future.

It all started with the visit to India recently of a Canadian astrologer, Theodore Gormick of Toronto.

Arriving in New Delhi with the idea of understanding Hindu astrological technique, Gormick unwittingly sparked a controversy by doubting the oft-claimed superiority of Oriental stargazing.

He told the columnist of a leading daily newspaper he considered the western system of astrology "far superior."

"Indian astrologers," said Gormick, "often rely on mind-reading and guesswork and frequently mix astrology with such things as palmistry. Their methods are more scientific."

Gormick became the target of attacks, challenges and taunts. One leading astrologer sent word to the Canadian that he was prepared for a competition.

The newspaper columnist got in touch with Gormick and wrote later: "Mr. Gormick hedged. He did not think he could find the time, nor did he feel that a test would prove anything."

An astrologer from Jargraon laughed away the Canadian's claims that he had predicted the Suez crisis and President Kennedy's election and said: "All these things are stale news for us Indian astrologers. We knew about them long before Mr. Gormick and his friends."

Gormick said the astrologer had given a misleading picture. He described him as "childish" and reaffirmed his low opinion of Hindu astrology.

The newspaper columnist got in touch with Gormick and wrote later: "Mr. Gormick hedged. He did not think he could find the time, nor did he feel that a test would prove anything."

Army 'Brain' Goes Haywire

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Army officials admitted yesterday that one of their electronic brains went haywire and ordered $7,600,000 worth of unneeded equipment sent to U.S. forces in Europe.

The orders were canceled when the army discovered the mistake. But a few thousand dollars' worth of equipment already had started to arrive overseas or was on the way.

The General Accounting Office (GAO), Congress' watchdog over government spending, disclosed the slip-up in a report to President Kennedy and the Senate and House. Congressional committees will look into the episode.

The army blamed the error on faulty rewiring of an electrical accounting machine control panel at its ordnance supply office in Orleans, France.

GAO auditors said that if the army had checked its figures, the mistake would have been caught much more quickly. A number of figures were transposed and some included an extra digit.

The GAO also said that other errors by army ordnance supply officers in Europe resulted in the shipment of $2,000,000 worth of unneeded equipment.

Scurrah Wishes Saanich Success In Vancouver Island Hub Scheme

Saanich council's plan to become the main distribution point for Vancouver Island by establishment of a warehouse area near Royal Oak was praised by Mayor Percy Scurrah yesterday.

Victoria Fails to Join Solid Front on Bylaw

Referendum Defeat 'Will Bring Chaos'

By IAN STREET

Representatives of the four Greater Victoria municipalities yesterday were asked to present a "united front" in support of $3,755,000 referendum to be voted on Oct. 28 in School District 61.

Speakers from Saanich, Esquimalt and Oak Bay pledged their individual support of the proposed three-year school building program. School superintendent John Gough made a plea for united action and said failure of the referendum would result in a "chaotic situation."

Part-Time Education

"The educational welfare of what is expected to be 27,000 youngsters in our schools three years from now is at stake. If this referendum is not passed for any reason it means we will be forced to resort to part-time education. He added: "I would point out that the introduction of shift classes in our schools would not only be effective in outside areas, but in Victoria as well."

Taxpayer-parents in Victoria would inevitably say the

Not Fair Suggestion

This could happen unless the attitude of Victoria could be reconciled so all the municipalities would present a united front. It would be unfair to suggest Victoria taxpayers are to be penalized, said Mr. Murphy. He pointed out many city businessmen and their employees live in Saanich and need no criticism of the school board or the other municipalities. "I'm trying to say the whole method is wrong."

Board chairman W. C. Gelling urged a different view.

Desperately Needed

He said the referendum was the only means of obtaining 101 desperately needed classrooms to meet the mushrooming school population of Greater Victoria as a whole rather than in individual municipalities.

"Then it is apparent all the citizens of Greater Victoria are being fairly treated," the chairman said.

Trustee Kenneth Leeming, the board's chairman of finance, disclosed the original estimates for the three-year building program have been more than $4,000,000 and were cut "by a considerable amount" at the insistence of the department of education.

Trustee Richard Reeve, chairman of buildings and grounds, said the "only positive approach" to the problem of cost sharing was to review all building programs since 1948.

Mop-Up Leader Named for Drive

New "mop-up" division of the United Appeal will be headed by Fred McGregor, it was announced yesterday. Duties of members of the division will be to call on all firms and individuals that have been missed by regular canvassers. The group will begin work Oct. 23.

Pall of Smoke Belies Clean Bill for Industry

Pall of smoke covering Victoria yesterday contradicted city hall report there has been "a considerable reduction in emission of heavy smoke from mills and laundries in the city area" over past month. Ald. Geoffrey Edgelow, chairman of city smoke abatement committee, said last night he has had no complaints about smoke for a month.

Smoke poured from this sawdust burner yesterday when the Colonist checked throughout the city to see if there has been reduction in smoke nuisance as reported to city public works committee Tuesday by smoke inspector Thomas Walker. City will spend $800 on special equipment to check on pollution of air by smoke. —(Colonist photos.)

Around the Island

New Name, Old Aims For Survival Council

PARKSVILLE—Vancouver Island Council for Survival will henceforth be known as the Vancouver Island Council for Control of Radiation Hazards and for Survival.

This decision was reached at a recent meeting of the organization to avoid confusion with civil defence, of which the council strongly disapproves. The council feels civil defence is not only useless, but immoral in that it encourages false hopes of survival and misdirected energies which should be employed in avoidance of war rather than for protection from its effects.

The chairman, Harry Harris of Courtenay, advocated more direct action from the council in the form of "exposure of the hoax of protection from nuclear war," emphasis on the "rising tide of leukemia, cancer and deformed births," the picketing of stores displaying shelters or other protection devices, mass demonstrations and acts of civil disobedience.

NANAIMO—The advisory planning commission has suggested more flowers be planted on highway traffic islands as a further step in beautifying Nanaimo.

The commission asked city fathers to contact the provincial highways department asking for flower beds rather than black-topping on new traffic islands on Stewart Avenue.

Council decided to go slow however when Ald. John Cook warned that any additional cost will have to be paid by the city.

COURTENAY—A total of $13,500 has been collected to date in the United Appeal drive for funds.

The collection represents 54 per cent of the $25,000 required for the 16 participating agencies. Local business areas in Courtenay and Courtenay have DUNCAN—Charged with failing to yield the right of way to through traffic on Jubilee and Station Streets, J. M. Pelki of East Saanich Reserve was fined $25.

Police said Pelki was involved in a two-car collision when he pulled out from a stop sign and hit another car driving down Station St. Damage resulting from the mishap amounted to $130.

PORT ALBERNI—Appointment of Jack Ellis as Norwegian vice-consul for this district has been confirmed. Mr. Ellis, a resident of this district since 1945, is an RCAF veteran. In his position with Port Alberni Shipping Co. he has had frequent contact with shipping interests of Norway and other countries.

DUNCAN—Highest bid for a piece of municipally owned land was accepted at a North Cowichan council meeting yesterday.

Cowichan Agricultural Society will acquire half an acre behind the south end fire-hall for $3,300.

DUNCAN—Ernest Paul Stroebel of HMCS Margaree pleaded guilty in Duncan police court on a charge of operating a motor vehicle without a British Columbia drivers' licence and was fined $15.

ALBERNI—"Atomic Radiation and Our Future" will be the topic of discussion by a panel at a meeting in Alberni District High School at 8 p.m. Thursday.

The meeting is sponsored by Alberni Valley committee on radiation hazards.

Panelists will be Dr. George Griffiths, department of physics, UBC; Harry Harris, Vancouver Island council for survival; H. E. Snider, civil defence co-ordinator, Victoria zone.

Also taking part will be a representative of Central Vancouver Island health unit.

Ronald G. Lyon, principal of Alberni elementary school, will be moderator for the panel discussion.

DUNCAN—Albert Henry Cooper of Victoria pleaded guilty to a charge of exceeding the speed limit on the Trans-Canada Highway near Ladysmith recently and was fined $25 and had his licence endorsed. Accused told court that in his 40 years' driving experience he had never had an accident.

DUNCAN—Eight miles of road were blacktopped in the municipality of North Cowichan at a cost of $80,000 this summer, Councillor Tony Staples told council yesterday.

CHERAMUNUS—A fine of $10 was imposed on Robert Louis Eastham of Ladysmith on Tuesday for carrying a firearm without a hunting licence.

GLADIOUS GROUP MEETS TODAY

Victoria Gladious Society will hold its first meeting of the season at 8 p.m. today in the council chamber at city hall.

The decision was made after Mr. Garnett told the committee he felt it would be wrong to remove the "no parking" restrictions.

"In almost every case there is a valid argument to keep the ban," he said.

Ald. Edgelow told the committee he is "continually being nailed on the matter" by city merchants.

He said traffic patterns have changed since the signs were first installed.

Dirty-Linen Flap Hits Our Man in California

Peter Bruton's NOTEBOOK

RIGHT NAME, WRONG PLACE

A traveller just returned from the wilds of San Francisco reports he called in on Newt Steacy, our distinguished civil servant, and found things in a fine old flap.

Seems Mr. Steacy was none too happy about receiving a lot of his mail addressed to "B.C. House."

Our provincial establishment here, he said, should be called "British Columbia House."

On the surface this seems a plausible matter. . . . But apparently there is a Chinese laundry in San Francisco with a name similar to B.C. House and a lot of Mr. Steacy's mail is ending up there with the dirty linen.

Incidentally, B.C. House is earning more than expected.

Originally it was estimated $25,000 would cover all the costs of operation for the present fiscal year. But yesterday cabinet okayed an additional $20,000 for the office to pay for "renovations."

B.C. House was only opened in August.

I.A. TRIVIATA: Back from the International Jaycee convention in Puerto Rico is Eric Charman who, despite all the stories, did not catch a 190-pound sailfish, mainly because he didn't go fishing. Eric had side trips to Jamaica and the Virgin Islands before returning. . . . A reader has taken pen in hand to say he can't understand how anyone could read such drivel as this column. He goes on to mention six separate items, which at least prove he is one who reads it! . . . Stolen humor: A Winnipeg colleague says that during the time of the World Series an excited three-year-old rushed out to her mother and said, "Mummy, come see, Yogi Berra is on television."

BARGAIN BASEMENT: A spy reports that less than three weeks after a piece appeared in the paper saying it was illegal to burn leaves in curb gutters she saw an off-duty policeman "doing just that." . . . About a year ago, a young gal had a close shave with death when she was thrown from a horse that shied. Recently the same horse was "borrowed" by a couple of eight-year-olds who never realized the trouble they were inviting. But the horse was gentle and caused no trouble at all. . . . Incidental intelligence: Next year's centennial celebrations in Victoria, points out Archie Williams in commemoration of the founding of civic government in the city, not the city itself. Victoria had its centenary soon after the Second World War.

SAFETY FIRST: A city man was journeying to the mysterious East aboard one of those new jets and remarked to his colleagues in the next seat there certainly was not too much room in the economy fare seats.

At Winnipeg a passenger of rather sizable proportions boarded the aircraft and, after considerable effort, managed to jam his frame into the seat. But the seat belt just wouldn't go around.

"I see you're having some difficulty," said the Victorian. "Funny, I was mentioning how small the seats were to my friend here before we reached Winnipeg."

"I can't get this safety belt around," grunted the newcomer.

"No I noticed that," said the city man. "Then, as a joke, he added: 'Perhaps you could hoist yourself up a bit and fasten it around your thigh, sir.'"

And do you know, that's exactly what the man did.

INSTANT ITEM: The best way to get ahead is to have one.

Faller Killed

Rules Failed to Save

ALBERNI — A coroner's jury probing the death of Samuel Schwenning, 33-year-old faller, recommended that no blame be attached to anyone.

The jury found that all safety precautions had been taken at the scene of the accident near Cous Creek, nine miles from Alberni.

The accident occurred at approximately 1 p.m. Monday. Mr. Schwenning, born in Poland, had lived in this district for the past 25 years and had been employed by MacMillan, Bloedel and Powell River Ltd. as a faller for 14 years.

He leaves his widow, Lydia, at the family home, 101 12th Avenue South; five sons, Donald, Richard, Edward, Kenneth and Alan; and one daughter, Judy, all of Port Alberni; a brother, Fred, in Vancouver and three sisters in Germany.

Rites will be held at 2 p.m. Friday in Kingdom Hall.

New Nanaimo Mountie All Wool, a Yard Long

NANAIMO — Latest addition to Nanaimo's RCMP detachment arrived from Nelson Wednesday wearing only a fur coat. He draws no pay except his board, has no rank and answers to the name of "Duke."

Duke is an RCMP tracking dog sent for general duties in the Nanaimo area.

Gas Station Go Home

NANAIMO — Nanaimo Automotive Retailers Association has blocked the entry of a new service station into the Nanaimo area.

The association told city council Nanaimo has too many service stations now.

The association says the city has twice as many stations as it can support.

As a result of the report, city council turned down the application of Home Oil Distributors who asked for rezoning of a lot on Terminal and Townsite for another service station.

5-Man Council Will Stand Pat

Nobody Was Overworked

NORTH COWICHAN — North Cowichan council yesterday decided not to launch a program this year to bring its numerical strength more into line with its mushrooming population.

The move came after several weeks of speculation that the lower-island district municipality would take advantage of existing provisions of the B.C. Municipal Act which would permit it to expand its council to seven members from the present five.

Reeve Morton told council that a provincial order-in-council would have to be passed to authorize the move and he doubted if there was sufficient time before the municipal elections in December.

Two councillors, Gerry Smith and Tony Staples, told the reeve they didn't believe there was any rush to expand the council. Their replies came after he asked council if any members felt overworked.

The reeve said he thought there should be a greater expression of public opinion on the plan before it is adopted.

Council members mentioned increased costs and additional work load for the municipal staff as chief disadvantages of the move.

'MORE TALK'

And, Coun. Staples added, "even more talk than now."

Pressure to expand the council came from the north end of the municipality. Chalmus Ratepayers' Association and the Crofton and District Chamber of Commerce both backed the move in letters to council.

Both groups pointed out that the council should be expanded in the interests of more equitable representation throughout the sprawling municipality.

They also feel that the steady increase in population and increasing administrative demands justify the move.

Council will review the proposal again early next year.

Youth Jailed

PORT ALBERNI — Gerald George Roy, 20, was sentenced to nine months definite and six months indefinite in Oakalla's young offenders' unit Wednesday by Magistrate W. E. MacLeod.

The youth was charged last week with breaking, entering and theft and he pleaded guilty.

The magistrate pointed out that while the offence, which involved theft of gas, oil and a home from a shed, did not appear serious, it was one of a number of offences for which Roy had been charged. Accused was on suspended sentence for a previous conviction he said.

Elmer Thompson, 24, and Richard Tate, 26, were each placed on one year suspended sentence. The two Nitinat area youths pleaded guilty last week to charges of breaking, entering and theft of liquor from a First Avenue residence.

Courtenay Hospital Out

COURTENAY — Construction of a $1,000,000 hospital at Comox means that Courtenay isn't likely to have a hospital for some years, Health Minister Eric Martin advised this week.

In a letter, Mr. Martin pointed out that it is impossible to provide a hospital for every community, and that the new hospital at Comox is designed to serve the whole area.

The new Comox hospital is being built by the Sisters of St. Joseph who will borrow the money. Money that would normally be paid in salaries will be used to retire the loan.

Frenzied Coho

Two Years Welfare Ends in Pen

NANAIMO — A man who lived in Nanaimo for two years on welfare payments he wasn't entitled to will spend another two years paying off his debt to society. Richard Ryan has been sentenced to a two-year term in the penitentiary. Testimony indicated Ryan was receiving payment in Duncan under an alias at the same time as he was collecting in Nanaimo.

Girl's Term Suspended

NANAIMO — Mrs. Diana Severud, 23, formerly of New Westminster, was given a suspended sentence of two years today on charges of uttering worthless cheques.

Magistrate Lloyd Beaver-Potts also ordered the woman to post a $500 bond and voluntarily take psychiatric treatment. Restitution of the money represented by the forged cheques is to be made in full.

UN Group Out-Votes Reds On Nuclear Tests Issue

UNITED NATIONS (AP)—The United Nations political committee overrode Soviet opposition and voted Wednesday to give urgent consideration to the issue of halting nuclear weapons tests.

Actual debate will begin this morning in the 101-nation committee. The Western powers are expected to assent to the Soviet Union for its announced plans to cap its current series of atmospheric nuclear tests with a 50-megaton bomb blast.

INDIAN PLAN LISTED
By a vote of 83 to 10 with four abstentions the committee decided to list as its first item of business an Indian proposal for a new voluntary moratorium on nuclear testing. Only the nine-nation Soviet bloc and Cuba voted against the proposal.

U.S. MOVE APPROVED
Then the committee approved a U.S. move to debate simultaneously the Indian proposal and a U.S.-British resolution of the urgent need for a treaty to end tests under effective international control.

The vote was 54 to 13 with 31 abstentions. The Soviet bloc, Cuba, Mali, India and Senegal voted no. The Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Valerian Zorin immediately denounced the committee's decision. He said the debate "cannot have any positive results."

Nikita Offers Utopia

By HENRY SHAPIRO

MOSCOW (UPI)—Premier Nikita Khrushchev yesterday promised the Soviet people a rosy future of a world without war and without want—a world in which he foresaw capitalism crumbling and communism supreme around the earth.

Khrushchev promised this Utopia by 1960, if the world stays at peace.

"BALANCE CHANGED"
He told assembled leaders of world communism they can have every confidence of "preventing a world war"—because "the balance of world political, economic and military forces has changed in favor of the peace-loving (Communist) camp."

THROW OFF YOKE

Speaking as first secretary of the Soviet Communist party, Khrushchev presented his party "platform" to more than 5,000 delegates at the second day of the 22nd party congress.

He also issued a special invitation to the underdeveloped nations of Latin America, Asia and Africa to "throw off the yoke of colonialism and enter on the road to socialism."

"ON DECLINE"

Khrushchev told the delegates that "American capitalism has passed its prime and is on the decline."

China Praises Nikita Enemy

TOKYO (UPI)—Shortly after Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev denounced Albania in his Kremlin speech Tuesday, Communist China's Peking radio broadcast a speech that did just the opposite.

Yang Yun-Yu, leader of the Chinese women's delegation to the fifth congress of the Women's Union of Albania, was quoted as praising the "correct leadership of the Albanian Labor (Communist) party headed by its long-tested leader, comrade Enver Hoxha, holding aloft the revolutionary banner of Marxism-Leninism and working in the spirit of holding the pick in one hand and the rifle in the other."

She praised Hoxha's "creative work" and said "we heartily admire your revolutionary heroism... We assure you that we will always be with you, even in storm and stress."

Khrushchev had attacked Hoxha for practicing the Stalinist "cult of personality."

Nations Back Canadian Plan

UNITED NATIONS (CP)—The United States and Britain Wednesday threw their support behind a Canadian-led campaign for a world-wide measurement of atomic radioactivity from nuclear tests and other causes.

HAROLD MACMILLAN

Don't Surrender Says Macmillan

LONDON (UPI)—Prime Minister Macmillan warned the Western powers last night "not to let the Russians drive a wedge between us."

In winding up the two-day extraordinary session of Parliament called to debate foreign affairs, Macmillan also called on the allies not to "drift into panic" over the Berlin crisis.

"We are working for a negotiation and we must not be rattled into surrender," he said.

"We must not be—and I am not—afraid of negotiations."

SEVERAL PLANS

The prime minister said the West had several proposals to put to the Soviet Union over Berlin but that he could not give details at the present time.

He said he thought some parts of Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev's speech yesterday showed Soviet recognition of Western firmness on Berlin.

He also made these points:

● Britain would not hesitate to call up reserves by Royal proclamation if there was a further deterioration in the world situation.

● Russian threats to sign a unilateral peace treaty with East Germany were "bad law... and unacceptable..."

● United States and British policy in Southeast Asia is in "complete harmony."

Reds Snub John D

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister Diefenbaker said last night Canada attempted to lodge a protest with the Soviet government over its announced intention to explode a 50-megaton nuclear bomb—but it was rejected.

Mr. Diefenbaker told a reporter the protest was rejected by the Russian embassy here on the ground that the bomb launching, scheduled for the end of this month, was "a domestic matter."

REFUSAL BARE

Wordings of the note was not revealed. Outright refusal to accept such a note is considered rare but is not unprecedented.

Earlier, Mr. Diefenbaker said: "No one can deny continued experimentation of these devices will ultimately lead to war and to a war measured in megadeaths."

TWO STEPS

Mr. Diefenbaker told reporters the government has considered two possible steps—a protest to the Soviet Union and sponsorship of a United Nations resolution condemning the proposed Soviet blast.

He said External Affairs Minister Green might "take an immediate initiative at the UN" to have the test condemned.

Immense Fallout Menace to Canada

TORONTO (UPI)—A Toronto newspaper said yesterday Russia's giant 50-megaton H-bomb, along with others tested recently, could shower Canada with more radioactive debris than all other nuclear weapons detonated in the world to date.

The newspaper's science editor, Leonard Bertin, said the "peculiar pattern of higher atmospheric mixing over Canada" apparently gave the Great Lakes area "more than its fair share of any fallout." He said Canada's position on the globe in relation to northern Russia was also a factor in increasing fallout debris over this country.

Bertin said one result could be "the risk of gross injury in the form of leukemia, or bone cancer."

He said results might not show themselves until "15 to 20 years time."

Bennett Ruling Called Insolent

By PETER BRUTON

Lieutenant Governor George Pearkes has sole authority to permit a legal suit over terms of the B.C. Electric seizure and can fire the cabinet if it refuses to accept his ruling, according to retired Supreme Court Justice A. M. Manson.

The one-time B.C. attorney general said it was clearly spelled out in the B.C. statutes that the granting of a fiat to prosecute the government was the prerogative of Lieutenant Governor Pearkes and not the cabinet.

The recently-retired Justice said it was "an insolent thing" for Premier Bennett to say the fiat would not be granted. Government legal officials were studying the new development last night.

Attorney General Robert Bonner, now out of town, is due back in Victoria today.

B.C. Power Corporation, parent body of the former BCE, sought the fiat to sue the government for $225,000,000 as compensation for the company instead of the $110,000,000 arbitrarily set by the government.

Mr. Manson referred to a section of the Crown Procedure Act dealing with applications to sue the government.

'Taken for Granted'

This reads: "The petition shall be left with the provincial secretary in order that the same may be submitted to the lieutenant governor for his consideration and in order that the lieutenant governor, if he thinks fit, may grant his fiat that right be done."

If the statutes had been followed to the letter it should have gone to Lieutenant Governor Pearkes. This was not done.

Officials said yesterday that it was taken for granted that "lieutenant governor" was the same things as "lieutenant governor-in-council," or, in other words, the provincial cabinet.

But the Interpretation Act clearly differentiates between lieutenant governor and lieutenant governor-in-council.

'Wouldn't Be Right'

Other spokesmen said that since 1847 it had been the policy that the lieutenant governor of a province did not act except on the advice of his cabinet ministers.

Mr. Manson said there were specific reasons why the granting of a fiat was the prerogative of the lieutenant governor and not the cabinet.

"The reasons why that procedure is laid down is that it would not be right that the normal advisors of His Honor—in other words the cabinet—could sit in judgment on a cause in which they are directly involved. Judges do not do that. Judges will always refuse to sit on any case... if they have a personal interest."

"The lieutenant governor, in granting or refusing the application, must do so by the exercise of his own discretion... his personal discretion."

"That discretion is not to be influenced by the views of his cabinet—it's a discretion that must be exercised in a judicial way. It's what we call a judicial discretion. No political influence should weigh. No questions should sway His Honor as to the possible consequences... of the granting of a fiat."

'May Dismiss Minister'

"He may seek the advice of the attorney general; he is not wise to do so because the statute specifically provides that it must be his own discretion. But he's not bound, in any event, by any opinion expressed by the attorney general."

"If he decides that the application should be favorably considered, then he instructs that the fiat be prepared for signature. If his minister refuses to prepare it, he may conceivably do it in his own handwriting—or he may feel that he has a reluctant minister on his hands and he may dismiss that minister."

"Indeed," said Mr. Manson, "if he feels that his advisers... the cabinet... are challenging his right he may dismiss his whole cabinet and dissolve the legislature and consult the people as to his granting the fiat."

Mr. Manson continued: "An insolent thing to do was for the premier to intimate that a fiat won't be granted. It is contempt of the lieutenant governor in his office."

"It would be bad enough if the attorney general had said it, but it's infinitely worse when the premier as a layman undertakes to make such a statement."

Payroll Plan For Shelters

NEW YORK (UPI)—Interest-free loans of $1,000 or less were made available Wednesday to employees of International Business Machines Corp. to build family fallout shelters.

The shelter loans would be repayable over a three-year period through payroll deductions.

Organized labor will issue neighborhood blacklists of workers who cross picket lines in three current strikes affecting Vancouver Island.

The action is aimed particularly at Taylor, Pearson and Carson and B. F. Goodrich plants, struck by the Retail,

Wholesale and Department Stores Workers Union.

But it also encompasses the Retail Food and Drug Clerks' strike against Woolworth's Ltd. in Port Alberni and the Steelworkers strike in Vancouver.

Recommendations of the B.C. Federation of Labor, which call for circulating "scab" lists among all BCFL affiliates and the neighborhoods where the "strikebreakers" reside, were adopted unanimously by the Victoria Labor Council last night.

STOP BUYING

A seven-point program of support for the three striking unions asks members to stop buying Standard Oil products throughout B.C.

The company was "prolonging" the strike of the Retail Wholesale Union by its continued support of Taylor, Pearson and Carson and B. F. Goodrich, two firms struck by the union.

RETURN CARDS

Officials said lower mainland unions had followed the federation policy of asking members of all affiliated unions to return gasoline credit cards to Standard Oil.

off the Algerians in a hall of gunfire and captured more than 80 rioters by the end of the fighting.

Hospital authorities at Nanterre said three Algerians were killed and 15 wounded.

Lesser incidents occurred inside the city but the Nanterre battle was the only major clash reported.

Police reinforced by security units from nearby provinces stood guard at strategic points throughout the area and apparently had the situation under control.
